KEMP AND COMPANY'S BELTINE,

For Preserving Leather Belting and increasing its gripping power.

ADVANTAGES.

Preserves the nature and durability of Leather.
Increases the Grip or holding power of Belts.
Renders them less liable to the effects of damp, heat, and climate.
Decreases wear of Belts and Bearings, because it
Enables the Belt to be worked slacker.
Effects a very large saving of Power.

It is of the greatest importance to users of Steam Power. By the judicious application of "Beltine," the Driving Belt may be worked at a less strain without slipping, effecting a great saving in were and tear.

Price Rs. 80 per cwt.
Drums 14lbs. and 28lbs., Re. 1 per lb.

The use of this "Beltine" is nearly indispensable for new Straps, which when used for the first time have a tendency to fall from the Pulleys. Old hardened Straps can be put again into a new state by the use of

"BELTINE."

The Southern Mahratta Railway is now the shortest, cheapest, and quickest route for passengers travelling from Bombay and Poona to Bangalore and Mysore and vice versa.

For the present passengers travelling from or to Bombay by this route should book to Poona, and drive about one mile between the Southern Mahratta Railway station at Ghorpoorie, Poona, and the G. I. P. Company's station there. Arrangements will shortly be completed by means of which the S.M.R. trains will run into the G. I. P. station at Poona, and passengers will be booked through between stations on the two Railways.

THE FINE ART EXHIBITION.—Our readers will be pleased to learn that our local exhibition did not close its doors finally on Saturday evening. It is to remain open till Wednesday evening. The rooms were crowded, both on Friday and Saturday. On the latter day the band of the Marine Battalion, under the able direction of Mr. Curry, added to the attractions in the evening. From to-day there will be a band every evening. More than 1,500 children have visited the Exhibition during the last two days, many of them through the kindness of Mrs. Scott and friends.

"A LITTLE PEG."—Moosa Suleman was on Saturday placed before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, with having assaulted a Goanese. The complainant said that on Friday, as he was walking in the street, the accused, who was slightly under the influence of liquor, pushed him violently against a woman. The man was an old offender, several similar offences being registered against him. He said that he had now given up his intemperate habits, but on Friday night, feeling unwell, he treated himself to "a little peg." He was ordered to pay a fine of Rs. 5, or in default, to undergo seven days' rigorous imprisonment.

CHARGE OF FORGING A TESTIMONIAL.—At the Girgaum Police Court on Saturday, Khan Bahadoor Meer Abdool Ali Akbar Ali, superintendent of the detective police, brought up on remand and charged Hussan Jan Mahomed, a coachman at present unemployed, before Mr. P Ryan, with fraudulently using as genuine a forged document purporting to be a certificate of service, signed by Mr. J. De Atkin, C.S., Under-Secretary to Government, Mr. DeSouza appeared on behalf of the accused. The circumstances of the case have already appeared in these columns. The Magistrate, after recording evidence for the prosecution, formally committed the accused to take his trial at the next Criminal Sessions of the High Court.

BRUTAL OUTRAGE.—A woman, named Suckoo, residing at Dongri Street, reports that at 6 o'clock on Friday evening a Purdasee, named Rameshwar, entered her room, and demanded her ornaments. She naturally declined to give them, whereupon he seized and gagged her, secured her hands and feet with a rope, and tied her to a post. He then possessed himself of two gold ornaments, valued at Rs. 45, which she was wearing, and decamped. About 8-30 the landlord returned home. He heard moaning in Suckoo's room, which he found fastened from the outside. He undid the fastening and then opened the door, when he discovered the woman bound hand and foot as aforesaid. The Purdasee Rameshwar is said to be a native of Shapoor, in the Thana District, and a policeman has been sent there to search for him.

AN UNGRATEFUL STUDENT.—At the Girgaum Police Court on Saturday, Inspector Chislett brought up on remand a Hindoo lad, aged 16 years, named Chotalal Bhugwandas, with stealing on the 7th instant, sundry gold ornaments, valued at Rs. 1,865, and Rs. 15 in cash, the property of Nudylall Veerchund from his residence in the bungalow of Morarjee Gocouldas, at Girgaum Road. The accused, it appears, was a student, who had come from Ahmedabad about nine months ago, and was located in the bungalow of Mr. Morarjee Gocouldas, and supported by that gentleman's charity. On the date in question, the complainant missed his property from one of the drawers in his cupboard. The accused was the only student that had access to complainant's room. He was consequently arrested by the police, and after a considerable time had elapsed in the enquiry regarding the theft, the accused admitted the theft and pointed out the places where he had concealed the stolen property. Chotalal Bhugwandass, on pleading guilty to the charge, was convicted, and sentenced to six months' rigorous inprisonment.

THE MANEKJEE KAVASJI LIBRARY.—At a meeting of the principal residents of Damaun, including Parsis, Portuguese, Mahomedans, and Hindus, numbering about 300, was held on the 17th instant, in the premises of the Dom Luis Premier School, it was resolved that in order to perpetuate the name of the eminent citizen, the late Mr. Manekjee Kavasjee Damaunvala, a library, bearing his name, should be established there. An influential committee of the local residents was formed, and a sum of money was subscribed, which it was determined to deposit with Mr. Sorabji, the son and heir of the deceased gentleman. Mr. Sorabjee was asked to become patron of the library, which office he has consented to accept. At the meeting several well-known officers and private gentlemen highly eulogised the valuable services rendered by Mr. Manekji to Damaun, to the Chiefs of Kattyawar, and to other people, in a variety of ways. Shortly before his death, several princes of Guzerat sent their representatives to enquire after his health, and to obtain the benefit of his mature experience and advice on political matters. Mr. Manekjee has left behind him a name which will be remembered by succeeding generations with pride and gratitude.

PUBLIC COMPANY MEETINGS.

BHATTIA SPINNING AND WEAVING COMPANY, LD.

THE first ordinary general meeting, and subsequent to it an extraordinary general meeting, of the above Company, was held at their registered office, on Saturday, at 3 p.m. Mr. Hurkisondas Narotumdas was in the chair. The following report was read and confirmed :—

Since the registration of the Company your Directors accepted and confirmed the purchase of the piece of land which the agent's firm had made prior to the Company being registered, situated near the Victoria Gardens, Byculla, and known as Albion Place, admeasuring 18,955 square yards, for the total sum of Rs. 42,189-12, being at the rate of Rs. 2-4 per square yard. This amount, together with sundry other incidental expenses, which were subsequently incurred on behalf of the Company up to date, have been defrayed solely by the members of the agent's firm, and as you so very well know, your Directors have not made any calls on you for the payment of any of the above charges. After the purchase of the said plot of land, and after its titledeeds and conveyances were duly transferred over from its original sellers to the name of the Company, your Directors were hard busy in collecting and deliberating upon several specifications of machinery and their valuations, received from different machinery agents. This took your Directors about six months before they could come to any final conclusion, but in the meantime surrounding circumstances in mill adventure began exhibiting such gloomy prospects of future success, that your Directors thought it prudent to defer for some time closing a contract with any of the machinists, or of progressing any further with the work of the Company, considering it advisable to watch events more closely. The result of the delay caused has now convinced your Directors that if the project of building a cotton spinning and manufacturing mill for the Company were proceeded with, it would beyond all doubt not be wholly beneficial in the interests of the shareholders, and for this reason your Directors have unanimously arrived at the final conclusion, at their last meeting, held on the 1st October 1889, to drop any further operations on account of the Company and to wind it up voluntarily. It is now the intention of the agents to retain the aforesaid plot of land as their personal property, and free all the shareholders from a participation in the expenses which they have incurred for the carrying on of the Company's affairs, as shown in the balance-sheet attached hereto, provided each of the shareholders, his heirs and executors, unanimously agree to release the members of the agents' firm, jointly and severally, from any claim whatever at any future date on the said plot of land. Your Directors, therefore, feel sure that you, gentlemen, after a calm deliberation, will not but coincide with their views, and with one accord adopt the suggestion they have herein laid before you of winding up this Company voluntarily, and the agents hereby agree to bear the legal charges for the transference, in their joint or individual names, as they desire, of the property aforesaid.

A suggestion that the Company should be voluntarily wound up, was carried unanimously and adopted.

Mr. Naroba Narrain proposed and Mr. Durrumsee Narojee seconded, that the plot of land purchased on behalf of the Company should be considered their sole property.

It was also proposed by Mr. Bhunejee Bhugwandas, and seconded by Mr. Laljee Cutchra, that the thanks of the shareholders be tendered to the various officers of the Company, for the satisfactory manner in which they have discharged their duties.

It was decided that the books of the Company should be entrusted to Mr. Ruttonsey Muljee.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

3. When not otherwise specified, the term "Horses" must be taken to include "Horses," "Mares" and "Geldings."
4. In class VIII (Horses), each exhibit must be under 4 years of age.
5. Any animal may be entered in any number of classes for which it is competent, but the same animal cannot take more than two prizes.
6. A Judge is debarred from taking a prize in any class in which he may officiate.
7. No prizes will be given in any class unless the animals come up to a fair standard of excellence. No second prize will be given in any class unless four animals are exhibited therein, and no third prize unless six are shown. Prizes withheld under this rule may, at the discretion of the Judges, be awarded as extra prizes in any other class or classes.
8. In classes XIII and XIV (Horses), exhibitors must make their own arrangements to have their horses ridden at such time as the Judges may appoint. In class X, XI, XII and XV, (Horses) and VII, IX, and X (Cattle) exhibitors must in like manner arrange to have their animals driven, and the Judges will be guided in their decision by the general appearance of the animals with their harness and the way they are driven, &c.
9. The Agents of the G. I. P., B. B. and C. I., & Raj-Malwa & S. M. Railway Companies have consented to carry animals to and from the Show at reduced rates on the following condition :—

"Full fare will be charged for an animal for the journey to Bombay, but it will be carried free on the return journey on production of a certificate signed by one of the secretaries, to the effect that the animal has been exhibited at the Show and remains the property of the sender, and provided it is despatched from Bombay within one week after the Show is closed. This concession is made only on the condition that the Railway Companies are relieved of all liability for damage to any animal carried under this arrangement."

10. Winners of prizes will not be entitled to receive them if they remove their horses or cattle before the termination of the Show, except at the appointed hour, which will be notified by the secretaries.
11. The Committee will have the right to decline any horse submitted for exhibition which in their opinion is not suitable for the Show.
12. No entries will be received after the 8th of March except for classes XIII, XIV, and XV (jumping and driving), and for classes VII, IX, and X (Cattle).

Messrs. H. C. Burder, J. H. Steel, J. J. B. Benson and H. M. Phipson, honorary secretaries.

THE great jewellers of Paris have just been the dupes of a singular fraud practised upon them with extraordinary success. French jewellers dress their windows with consummate taste, exhibiting, as a rule, only a small portion of their stock, but of the highest quality and value. The swindlers had amongst them a working goldsmith, whose aid they called in. He studied in the windows the patterns of pieces selected to be stolen. Duplicates of these were prepared, the setting of real gold, and the stones of the very best imitation. Furnished with these the swindler entered the shop, made a purchase or two, and inspected the costly jewels, but rejected them as too dear. It was not till some time afterwards that the diamond dealer found that he had been left with beautiful paste in first-rate setting.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22.

Two lakhs of extra Wire transfers on Calcutta were allotted by the Indian Council yesterday at 1s. 5 1-16d., which is 1-16d. above the rate they went for at Wednesday's regular biddings. Bar Silver, according to private messages, was 1-16d. higher, at 43 13 16d. per oz, business having been done at the rate, but Reuter calls the price unchanged at 43¾d. Thursday's quotations of £69⅝ for Fours and £71 1-16 for 4½ per cents are repeated for Rupee Securities. Consol were unchanged at 97⅞ and Indian Sterling Loan at 107¼. About £75,000 in Gold was paid into the Bank of England yesterday. The weekly Specie shipments to Bombay consisted of £180,000 in Silver and £20,000 in Gold, Braziers' Copper remained at £57-10, Coal Freight from Cardiff was unaltered at 14s 6d. per ton. In Paris, French Rentes were ¼ per cent. higher, at 88. Exchange on London was a shade easier at fcs. 25·28. Reuter's London telegram of this afternoon confirms the enhanced rate for Silver, but makes no change in other financial quotations.

The Wheat and Seed Markets were unchanged. The quantity of Wheat afloat for the United Kingdom yesterday was 1,890,000 quarters or 10,000 quarters more than was upon the water a week ago. Coffee was steady in Mincing Lane and both Mid.-Plantation and Medium Mysore are quoted 1s. higher at 105s. per cwt.

Cotton in Liverpool closed quiet all round, last evening, the total Sales having been less than on the previous day, at 7,000 bales, inclusive of 400 Surats. 6 1-16d. was still the price of Mid.-American, and quotations of East Indian Cotton show no change whatever. American Arrivals were also unaltered in all positions. The day's Imports were 6,000 bales. The Manchester Market was quiet, and the quotations wired are the same as those last received, both for Goods and Twist. This afternoon the Liverpool Market closed dull. Surats easier, but both spot and arrival prices were quite unchanged. The Imports were 27,000 bales.

Business in Liverpool was on about the same scale during the week ended yesterday as for the previous six days, the total Sales having been 2,000 bales more, at 39,000 bales, while the amount taken by the trade and forwarded was 4,000 bales less at 100,000 bales. The Imports had been 3,000 bales, smaller, at 83,000 bales. The total Stock had become greater, by 20,000 bales, and showed an excess of 298,000 bales compared with the stock in hand at the same time last year, and of 144,000 bales as against that in 1888. The Stock of Surats was the same as last week at 91,000 bales. In the total Visible Supply there had been a falling off of 60,000 bales since the previous Friday, and in East Indian Cotton of 15,000 bales; the comparative figures, as given below, showing an increase in the total supply of 110,000 bales compared with last year, and a decrease of 8,000 bales as against the year before, while of East Indian Cotton there were 8,000 bales more, and 18,000 bales less in sight compared with the two years, respectively. Spot prices remained stationary throughout the week; but American Arrivals receded to the extent of 1-32d. to 3-64d.; and an increase is shown in the price of spot Mid.-American of 11-16d. and 5-8 compared with the rates ruling at this time last year and the year before respectively.

In New York, 11 5-16 cents was still the price of ready Mid.-Uplands yesterday, but May Futures were 3 points lower at 11·27 cents. The Receipt at the U. S. Ports were 24,000 bales; and the week's total arrivals again show a falling off as against last year's for the corresponding week, but an increase, to a larger extent, compared with those for 1888; and the total figures from the opening of the season now give an increase of 430,000 bales and 408,000 bales, as against the two previous years, respectively. The figures for the quantity in sight are not given. The New York Market was closed to-day for a holiday.

The American Crop figures to date give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons:—

	1890.	1889.	1888.
Week's receipts	87,000	99,000	69,000
,, exports to U. K.	71,000	64,000	87,000
,, ,, Continent	35,000	47,000	25,000
Total receipts since 1st Sept	5,234,000	4,801,000	4,826,000
,, exports to U. K. do.	2,198,000	1,967,000	2,031,000
,, ,, to Continent do.	1,681,000	1,419,000	1,333,000
,, Stock in the Ports	614,000	811,000	851,000

The total Visible Supply of Cotton for all Europe on the 21st inst. affords the following comparisons with the two previous years:—

	1890.	1889.	1888.
Total supply of all kinds	2,950,000	2,839,680	2,937,900
,, ,, Surats	370,000	377,680	352,550

For the United Kingdom only the figures are:—

Stock in Liverpool	1,030,000	732,020	885,780
,, London	12,000	6,000	26,000
American afloat	161,000	158,000	160,000
East Indian ,,	46,000	96,000	26,000
	1,248,000	990,020	1,097,780
Price of Mid.-Americans	6 1-16d.	5¼d.	5 9-16d.
,, Good Dhollera	4 11-16d.	4⅛d.	4¼d.
Difference	1⅜d.	⅞d.	1 1-16d.

There has been a good deal more doing in Cotton here to-day, the reported purchases summing up about 5,000 bales, of which three-fifths were Dhulia, at Rs. 200 to Rs. 203½ per candy. Bengals have been in less request, under 300 bales of this growth having changed hands at Rs. 185-96; the other more important lines having been in Akola, at Rs. 207; and Khangaum, at Rs. 218; small lots of Barsee, at Rs. 233½; and Veraval, at Rs. 211 having also been taken. The tone of the market has been steady, but prices are unchanged.

WHEAT has not been much inquired for by exporters, and little fresh business has transpired to-day; but the feeling keeps steady, and we make no change in our quotations for any description.

SEEDS also are quite unaltered in value and quiet in tone, to-day's transactions having been upon a small scale and on the bases of previous rates.

The Receipts of Produce into Bombay yesterday were as follows:—

Cotton	10,038 bales.
Wheat	6,800 cwts.
Linseed	12,347 ,,
Rapeseed	6,131 ,,
Gingelly	12,187 ,,
Ground Nuts	8,386 ,,
Castor Seed	1,527 ,,

FREIGHTS are firm and advancing. Business has been done for Marseilles for February-March shipment, at 25s.; for Antwerp, for March shipment, at 24s. and 24s. 6d.; and for Dunkirk, also for March, at 25s. per ton. The Nedjed (s) has been fixed to speculators for picked ports (since declared for Liverpool) at 25s. 6d. per ton, for March loading.

EXCHANGE has been quiet and fairly steady for ready business at yesterday's quotations, but with forward rates dull, and buyers inclined to make concessions, few Merchants' Bills, however, coming out in any position. Three months' sight Credits, for March delivery, may be quoted at 1s. 5 3-16 to 3-32d., and for April, at 1s. 5 1-16 to 1-32d., ready rates being as follows:—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 4 31-32d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 4 15-16d.	,,
Do. 3 months' sight	1s. 5 1-16d.	,,
Credits do.	1s. 5 7-32d.	,,
France do.	1·81¼	,,

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been quiet but steady at last evening's closing rates, say, 98⅝ for Fours for cash, 98¾ for the settlement on the 3rd proximo, and 99¼ for the account of the 30th idem; but with few bargains booked on either line, and little doing for Money. 4½ per cents are now quoted at 100¼, nominal.

SHARES have been neglected, but with prices of Cotton Mill Scrip still leading in favour of buyers, a decline of Rs. 10 each in City of Bombay Manufacturing and Ripon; and of Rs. 5 in Lukmidas Khimji having been established at our quotations. Bombay Cotton Press are Rs. 5 higher at Rs. 140; and Mofussil Rs 2½ at Rs. 425 per share.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1890.

SOME aspects of the Hearsey defamation case, which came before the Chief Justice at the Calcutta Sessions, deserve serious attention. Early in January, 1889, the Pioneer published a "Study of the Congress" which had just been held in Allahabad, and therein the writer alluded in terms of contumely to Captain Hearsey, a retired officer who had taken a prominent part in the proceedings. Lord Salisbury's infelicitous reference to the Liberal Candidate for Finsbury as a "Black Man" was just at that time much canvassed, and by an evil inspiration the writer of the article referred to Mr. Hearsey as the "Brown Captain," and made disparaging reflections which were certainly in very questionable taste and were possibly libellous. Instead of instituting legal proceedings against the paper, the individual animadverted or presented himself on 4th January in the Editor's room, and complained of the article. While Mr. Chesney was looking through the article, of which he was not the writer, to see what were the sentences complained of, Captain Hearsey struck him with a whip. Mr. Chesney closed with his assailant, who was huddled out of the office. A summons for assault was tried before the Cantonment Magistrate, the Captain declined to cross-examine Mr. Chesney, and expressed his sorrow for having assaulted him in the belief that he was the writer of the article. The epithet "brown"—which was after all a softening of Lord Salisbury's darker epithet—appears to have been regarded by the Captain as an imputation cast upon his mother. He admitted to the Magistrate that he had been convicted four times for assault. He was sentenced to a month's simple imprisonment, and bound over to keep the peace for twelve months. It would have been well had this expiation been held sufficient. Respect for the vanquished, said the great Napoleon to his cock-crowing troops, sustains the course of victory. It is a mistake to push an advantage too far. Having imprisoned the aggressor, if he were indeed the aggressor, he might well have been allowed to eat the bread of reflection in the Allahabad lock-up. On the 26th January, the day after the sentence was passed, a stinging and vindictive leaderette appeared, setting forth that "One Andrew Hearsey, notorious in these Provinces as 'Captain' Hearsey," had been sentenced to imprisonment, and going on to state that he was originally a Lieutenant in the 107th Foot, and had "closed his career under pressure from the Commander-in-Chief." It was further quite needlessly stated that in the ten years ending in 1884 he had been "convicted seven times for various offences against the Penal Code." It was piously hoped that Mr. Hearsey's ruffianly propensities would be effectually discouraged by the salutary action of the Cantonment Magistrate. All this was out of keeping with the habitual tone of comments in the Pioneer. The not unnatural indignation of Mr. Allen against the perpetrator of an outrage upon Mr. Chesney is the only palliation for a reference to supposed incidents in Mr. Hearsey's past which had really nothing to do with the case. That the paragraph was defamatory, inasmuch as it was calculated to injure the character or reputation of the individual to whom it referred was clear, and as such it was a breach of the law, unless the publication could be shown to be for the public interest, or unless it was fair comment on proceedings before a properly constituted tribunal. The convictions for assault were certainly mentioned by both sides during the investigation before the Cantonment Magistrate, and the accused contented himself with stating that seven convictions were not for assault. It is quite arguable that a reference to these indications of a propensity on the part of the accused to take the law into his own hands, with or without provocation, would be permissible under the proviso that fair comments on the facts which come out in legal proceedings are excepted from the very comprehensive clause defining defamation. The imputation conveyed in the reference to the accused's retirement from the Army does not come within this saving clause, and the writer or publisher of the paragraph containing it could not complain if he were called upon to answer for the publication of a libel.

Where was the libel published? In Allahabad, where the paper in which it appears is published. What is publication? Legally it is held that a paper is published wherever a copy is sold or delivered. A newspaper which has a single subscriber in Calcutta or Bombay or Madras, in Mandalay or at Murree, may be subject to legal proceedings—criminal or civil—at the choice of a complainant who may have a very strong case or a very weak one, or only a pretence of a case which cannot stand for five minutes' investigation when the defence is opened. Whatever the nature of the case—good or bad, grave or trivial—the man who considers himself entitled to claim redress for defamation can choose his venue and put the defenders by a little ingenuity, to grievous cost, trouble, and loss of time in entering an appearance, employing solicitors, and feeing counsel at a place distant a thousand miles or more from the place where the witnesses live and the facts are known. We have abundant reason to know that the mildness of provisions for dealing with defamation not only can be but is availed of to harass and injure when the offence charged is so infinitesimal that it would be waste of time to bring it into the nearest court. We are far from asserting that in the present case Captain Hearsay took the course which was open to him simply or mainly because of any doubt as to the result if the prosecution which he instituted was taken before a court within reasonable distance of his own dwelling or of the office of the offending paper. He may have had, and probably he had, excellent reasons for choosing Calcutta instead of Allahabad for the venue when laying information against Mr. Chesney, Mr. Dare, and Mr. Allen. What we desire to show is that the same facility for making a free and unfettered choice of a Calcutta court would have enabled him to take the defendants, one after the other, to Rangoon or Mandalay or Bhamo; or if he had preferred a northern clime he might have summoned them to Peshawur, Kurrachee, Quetta, or to Murree. We do not mention Murree quite at hap-hazard. A correspondent in the Punjab wrote in perfect good faith that a certain firm had stopped business at a certain frontier situation, and expressing regret as the want of supplies would occasionally inconvenience him. The head of the firm in Bombay called and asked that a rectification should be made, for the firm had not stopped business, but had discontinued an unprofitable branch. This explanation was accordingly published to the entire satisfaction of the firm in Bombay. After a considerable interval, a junior partner in Murree issued a summons from the court of the Cantonment Magistrate—not the present incumbent—requiring the present writer to appear and answer a charge of defamation. The process was served two days before the date fixed for the hearing—Murree is close upon three days distant from Bombay. A vakil was instructed by telegraph to represent the defendant, and ask for an adjournment to give time to communicate and enter a defence. The military magistrate said that the vakil had no locus standi, and gave judgment by default, fining the defendant Rs. 1,000 with costs. An appeal could only have been carried to Calcutta, which is as far from Bombay as from Murree. To save trouble the fine was paid. It was something to be thankful for that the magistrate did not sentence the distant defendant to a month's imprisonment, and have him taken to the Murree jail for contempt of court in not previously answering to the summons. This experience may be that of any journalist or indeed of any one else who may, by human ingenuity, be charged with uttering words spoken or intended to be read in the remotest parts of this vast empire.

This is not a digression; it is an illustrative incident which shows how the staff of the Allahabad paper has fared in the recent case. The paragraph complained of appeared in January; no action whatever was taken by the aggrieved party till June. Then a prosecution was instituted at Allahabad against the editor and publisher of the newspaper. These proceedings were discontinued. Ultimately they were revived in Calcutta, and the result was as stated. Now we put it with some confidence to the eminent judicial authorities who were concerned in these proceedings that in sanctioning these easy and capricious changes of venue they have done as much as the most contumacious defendant could do to bring the tribunals into discredit. The publication, de facto, must necessarily be in the place where the libel is printed and whence it is distributed to the public. Anywhere else the publication is purely constructive, and to fix the venue there is to resort not merely to a technical quibble which might be permissible in defence, but which should be severely discouraged when it is resorted to in setting the criminal law in operation against an individual. The implication is that the courts in the precincts of which the cause of action arose are biassed, tainted, and untrustworthy, and the procedure which lends itself to the confirmation of so damaging a presumption as this is practically a setting at contempt of one court by another, and cannot too severely be reprehended. Calcutta, in a word, formally proclaims the untrustworthiness of the judicature of Allahabad, and this on no specific proof that justice was in danger of not being rendered at Allahabad, but on an unquestioning acceptance of the capricious preference of the prosecutor. As to the merits of the case itself the course taken by the defendant in placing himself unreservedly in the hands of his counsel makes comment difficult. Such absolute surrenders to professional guidance are not always profitable, and we can conceive that if the defendant had not allowed the control of his case to pass from his hands the result might have been less disadvantageous. The action of the Pioneer, blameworthy as it may have been, must have been capable of an extenuation which counsel, taking a narrowly technical view of the matter, could not be expected most fitly to present, and which would probably have satisfied the Court that a much less severe penalty than a fine of Rs. 3,000, with ominous hints at worse things, would have met the case.

THE protest which has been raised by a number of native brokers against the resolution of the majority of the Exchange Banks to deal only with those who subscribe to a Native Brokers' Association has been endorsed by more than one communication in our columns, and it is evident that those aggrieved are anxious to carry public sympathy with them. "Live and let live" will at all times be a popular sentiment, and we should be surprised to learn that even bank managers, were opposed to it. They, too, have to make an income for their principals, and are the last people in the world, we should imagine, to drive from their doors anyone who can bring them safe business. Their interest and the interest of the brokers is identical, and in this consideration alone there should be enough to discourage some of the harsher judgments of the action of the banks to which expression was given at the meeting last week. Nor do we think it likely that the banks, despite all that has been said and written about their proceedings, are anxious to make any invidious distinction between European brokers and Native brokers as such. Non olet, they will say of whatever business is brought to them, without asking if the introducer is an Englishman or a Bannia. But as reasonable men we suppose that the Native brokers will see that there are certain presumptive safeguards in dealing with a European broker which do not always obtain elsewhere. The European brokers are known to everybody. Their clients are known, and every bank in the town can tell what it is doing, and whom it is dealing with when it has an exchange transaction with a European broker. There is nothing necessarily invidious in saying that the case is not precisely the same with all the Native brokers. It is true that in buying they declare who their principals are, but that is not all that is wanted, seeing that it sometimes happens, that the principal is a client on the bazaar whose name is unknown at the bank, and who, when the day of settlement arrives, may have disappeared. To verify forward transactions of this class it would often be necessary to send a clerk on the bazaar, not only to inquire if the person in whose names bills have been bought has any existence, but if he is a substantial trader. It is not necessary to say more on that point than that lists of defaulters are to be found in some of the banks quite long enough to justify the prejudice which the managers have shown in favour of dealing with men whom they know instead of with men whom they do not know. We take it that the gentlemen who have taken action in the interests of the Native brokers are willing to co-operate with the banks in making sure that business shall be put upon a sound footing. The purpose of the newly-formed association is to discourage adventurers, and to keep the business in the hands of men of substance and integrity. Such being the object it ought not to be difficult to establish a modus vivendi between the banks and the eminently respectable men who have lately objected to their proposal. Banks which have lost money through doing business with insufficiently accredited men are not necessarily resorting to harsh or invidious measures when they ask for a moderate guarantee deposit from buyers who often buy for unknown principals. It is a measure of protection their right to resort to which cannot be disputed, least of all by the Native brokers who are interested in keeping up the good name of their class.

A PAPER recently read by Mr. Vidal before the Bombay Natural History Society on the prevalence of the echis carinata—or "phursa," as the natives call it—in the Ratnagiri district has evoked the suggestion by a correspondent that sufficient use has not been made of a widely prevalent plant, the "pangal"—pogostemon purpuricaulis—as an antidote to snake-bite. The highly styptic qualities of the plant seem to be satisfactorily proved, and Mr. Vidal tells us quite enough of its use in Ratnagiri to warrant the medical authorities who by recent measures have been especially entrusted with therapeutic investigation and experiment in ascertaining if a place can be assigned to "pangal" in the Materia Medica of India. But it is not in this direction alone that Mr. Vidal's paper invites inquiry. We wish to call attention here to the enormous number of poisonous snakes of this particular kind which exist in the Ratnagiri district. The scientific authorities seem to have little to say about the species, but it abounds in the blue books, and must take the first place amongst snakes in this part of India for its destructive activity. In the six years 1882-7 no fewer than 1,354,330 of the echis carinata were destroyed in the Ratnagiri district and brought in for the usual Government reward. The annual average was 225,721, out of an annual average of 273,186 destroyed in the entire Presidency. Mr. Vidal's estimate is that of the whole number of snakes consumed annually throughout British India considerably one-half are killed in the Ratnagiri district. This, from any point of view but Mr. Phipson's, is a fearful pre-eminence for any district to enjoy, and the attention of Government should be drawn to it. To a very large extent the plague is within their control, for the people will bring in as many snakes as the Government make it worth their while to capture. What can be done in this direction was shown nearly twenty years ago, when on the reward being temporarily raised from half an anna to two annas per snake over a hundred thousand were brought in within eight days. But the policy of "thorough" was soon abandoned, and it has not been taken up since. The rate is now a quarter of an anna per snake, but as the Government limit the total expenditure upon rewards for snake-killing to fifty rupees per month in each taluka, the limit is soon reached, and the inducements to the villagers to carry on a continuous war against their enemies are then at an end. The result is serious, for Mr. Vidal shows that while in the Deccan tracts only one man in a hundred thousand dies of snake-bite, in the districts where the "phursa" abounds, the mortality is one in five thousand. Government might well relax a rule which has more relation to the minor expenses of administration than to the safety of the people. Ratnagiri is evidently in need of special protection, and if for a couple of years the limitation we have spoken of were relaxed, this interesting but increasingly poor district might soon be relieved of what is something much more serious than a widespread nuisance.

LORD CROSS'S BILL.

LONDON, FEB. 21.

The Lords this evening read the India Councils Bill for the first time. Lord Cross, in bringing forward the Bill, confirmed the details as already given in the previous message, and said it would give the Council the right to discuss the Budget even when no enactment is required. It also empowers the Viceroy to increase the number of additional members. The provisions of the Bill will apply to the Provincial Councils as well as to Viceregal Council.

Lords Ripon and Northbrook generally approved of the Bill, but reserved their opinion as the to the details.

THE GILGIT MEMORANDUM.

In the House of Commons Sir John Gorst, replying to Mr. Bradlaugh, declined to lay the Gilgit memorandum on the table of the House.

THE SILVER-PLATE DUTIES.

Mr. Goschen, in reply to a question, said he would consider any real grievance touching the assaying of silver plate. It was needless, he said, to issue fresh orders to the Customs authorities in connection therewith.

FREE EDUCATION.

Mr. Acland, in the Commons, brought forward an amendment to the Address that the House regrets the omission from the Queen's Speech of any proposals regarding free education in England.

Sir W. Hart Dyke said the Government admits the importance of the matter, but it was not intended to submit any proposals respecting the subject this year.

Mr. Chamberlain was opposed to the question, as it entailed a vote of confidence, otherwise he would support it. The amendment was rejected by a majority of thirty votes.

FAREWELL TO THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, FEB. 23.

Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught left here on Saturday. The farewell demonstration was a most affecting affair, the Civilians vied with the Soldiers to give the Royal pair a farewell, befitting the occasion. The Soldiers turned out of their own free-will, they came down without their side arms. A deputation appointed at a public meeting, held the night before, waited on the Duke at Magdala House with an address. The address which contained a few well chosen words of farewell was read by Khan Bahadur Dorabjee Padumjee. His Royal Highness replied in the following terms :—"Khan Bahadur Dorabjee Padumjee, and Gentlemen of the Deputation,—" I am very sensible of the kind feelings towards us which has prompted you to come forward at such short notice to wish us God-speed. You may rest assured that I shall not forget the kindly welcome you gave me on my arrival here nor the splendid reception at which the Duchess and I attended, which you gave to H. M. the Queen's grandson, Prince Albert Victor. In wishing you good-bye allow me to express a wish for your happiness and prosperity and for the inhabitants of this great city, and I only trust that Poona will not be visited by a plague which unfortunately are of such frequent occurrence in India. I am aware the Municipalities of this city have done much and are doing more to improve the sanitation of the place and to encourage the people to take an interest in this most important matter. I shall ever remember our four years' residence among you, and again on behalf of the Duchess and myself I wish you all good-bye." (Applause.) The members of the deputation were then introduced to his Royal Highness who shook hands with all present. Their Royal Highnesses and children then entered a drag, drawn by six horses, ridden by Captain Holland, Lieutenant Cloete and Corbyn. The line of route was thickly hedged by the Soldiers and Civilians who cheered the party lustily. Near the Sassoon Hospital the boys of the Ornella's School were marshalled and they cheered the Royal pair, and the scene of the station beggars description. It was splendidly decorated by Guards Stroud and O'Leary, and the arrangements for the people, effected by Mr. Parker, were excellent. Everybody was there. Their Royal Highnesses were loaded with flowers by Native and European gentlemen, and three hundred school-children sang "God save the Queen." The band of the Royal Fusiliers played "Auld Lang Syne." When the train moved out the Artillery fired a salvo, and the children threw flowers into the carriage. Three hearty cheers were given for the Duke and Duchess, who bowed their acknowledgment. Another demonstration was made at Kirkee ; the loss is very generally felt by all sections in Poona.

A NEW RAO BAHADUR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

WADHWAN, FEB. 23.

A Grand Durbar was held yesterday at 6 p.m. in the Talookdari Girrasia School to confer the title of Rao Bahadur to our most popular and worthy Dr. Thakurdas Kikabhai Dalal. There was a large gathering of the elite of the station, besides the members of the Rajashanik Court and other officials of different States. The Hon'ble Mr. Budroodin was also present on the occasion. After a brief but appropriate speech, dwelling upon the meritorious services and professional abilities of Dr. Thakurdas, Major Sealy presented the sanad to him, who in a concise and well-worded speech made a suitable reply. There was also a musical entertainment given at the Doctor's bungalow at night when all the native gentlemen present in the durbar were invited. The assembly dispersed at midnight, after receiving flowers and pan-soopari.

Mehta, Bombay Agent to the Thakor of Wudwan, and Hurrypursad Suntookram Desai. Their Royal Highnesses, on alighting at the station platform, shook hands with the several gentlemen there, and after a short conversation the Duke and Duchess, together with their children, entered their carriage and pair that was in waiting and drove off to the Cooperage, escorted by two of the body-guard. The usual salute will be fired from the saluting battery this morning, announcing the arrival of his Royal Highness the Commander-in-Chief.

BOMBAY RACES.

STEWARDS.—Brigadier-Surgeon A. C. Gaye, Colonel St. J. Le Marchant, R.H.A., General J. Hills, C.B., Colonel A. W. Becher, A. Keyser, Esq. T. M. Filgate, Esq., Colonel W. Merriman, C.I.E., Honorary Secretary ; Brigade-Surgeon Gaye ; Assistant Secretary, Mr. Pallonjee Nusserwanjee.

JUDGES.—Colonel St. J. Le Marchant, Colonel W. Merriman, and J. L. Symons, Esq.

CLERK OF THE SCALES.—Colonel G. Simpson.

The first day of the Bombay Races was a success in every sense of the term. The course was in fine condition ; the afternoon was not too hot There were no fewer than four book-makers, giving very fair odds. Most of the races were open, and punters were not at all backward with their money. With all this to assist them, it is no wonder that those concerned gave the public a treat at Mahalaxmi on Saturday. Mr. Pallonjee Nusserwanjee, who attends to the minutiæ on such occasions, had everything in and about the Grand Stand in thorough order. There were two bands in attendance, which played at intervals during the evening.

As a glance at the betting will show it was a fine day for the book-makers ; but though during the first three races the public "plunged" a good deal on the favourites, they were wary later in the day.

There were four entries for the Cowasjee Jehangier Purse, for which Forat was hot favourite ; but Merrylegs had a few backers whose choice she justified by winning in grand style by a length on the post. At one time it looked as though Pioneer with his two stone less weight had the legs of the field, and it was not till coming down the straight that he fell away.

Of the four horses who faced the starter in the next race, Salambo was most fancied, Corinthian coming next a very long way behind ; but Arethusa, a rank outsider, upset all calculations by winning the race in an exciting finish.

For the Eclipse Stakes there were six entries, Superiority having been scratched. The race was practically an open one, though Asteroid found a goodly number of backers, whom she rewarded by romping in a length in front of Success.

Eleven ponies went off with a good start for the Derby. Of these Soocab and Rocket divided the public fancy, but the former was nowhere in it, and the latter only just succeeded in getting a place. The race was one of the best of the evening, ending in a fine finish.

The last event was the Welter, for which five entered. It was an open race, the odds given by the book-makers being short and remarkably even.

The start was not very good, but this was scarcely Mr. Beatty's fault, as the field was a very restive one. Heliotrope won in fine style.

The following are the particulars of the day's sport

FIRST RACE.—"Cowasjee Jehangheer Purse."—Rs. 400. For all maiden Arab and country-bred galloways : weight for age and inches, C. B.'s allowed 10 lbs. ; winners, once 7 lbs, twice, 10 lbs, oftener 14 lbs, extra. Maidens of the day allowed 4 lbs. R. C.

Mr Kaliffa bin Esau's ch a gal Merrylegs, 8st 10 lbs, T Kendall 1
Mr Farmer's ch a gal Forat, 9 st 8 lbs, W Greenhalgh 2
Mr S A W's b a gal Pioneer, 7st 5lbs, Ahmed 3
Mr. Cursetjee's ch a gal Hattum, 9st 7 lbs, Captain Ross 0

The lot were sent away with a good start. Pioneer then forged ahead with the others in a clump behind him. He kept his lead till coming down the straight, when Merrylegs and Forat drew level. They then went ahead, and a neck-and-neck race ensued, Merrylegs eventually winning by one length. Time—2 mins 56½ secs.

Betting ; Forat 4 to 6, Merrylegs 3 to 1, Pioneer 8 to 1., Hattum 4 to 1.

SECOND RACE.—All Horse Handicap, Rs. 1,000 from the Fund. For all horses. 5 furlongs-

Captain Ross, ch Aus m Arethusa, 7 stone 7 lbs. Native 1
Dr. Bull's g w geld Corinthian, 9 stone 7 lbs. Captain Ross 2
Captain Hanwell's, b w m Salambo, 8 stone 7 lbs. D Greenalgh 3
Aga Coochick Shah's b w m Maude, 8st, Dunn 0

The four got away level at the fall of the flag. Corinthian then took up the running, but soon fell back, giving place to Arethusa. Towards home the gray made another gallant effort for first place, and all but succeeded in getting it. When they passed the box, Arethusa was leading by three-quarters of a length. Time 1 m. 1 sec.

Betting ; Salambo 1 to 2, Corinthian 4 to 1, Maude 5 to 1, Arethusa 5 to 1.

THIRD RACE.—"The Eclipse Stakes." Rs. 1,000 from the Fund.—A handicap for all ponies 13-2 and under, and C. B. galloways 13-3 and under. Top-weight not to exceed 11st. ½ mile.

Mr Grant's g a p Asteroid, 7st, Lutchman 1
Aga Junghee Shah's b a p Success, 8st 7lb, Dunn ... 2
Mr S A W's g a p Steward, 9st, Bowen 3
Mr Farmer's b a p Superority, 8 st 12 lbs, W Greenhalgh 0
Mr Ali Abdoola's g a p Mirror, 8st 10lbs, T Kendall.. 0
Mr Framjee Dorabjee's g a p Cyclone, 8 st 3 lbs, Hobday 0
Mr Moochool Shah's g a p Sattara, 7 st 7lbs, Wool... 0

The field gave Mr. Beatty some touble, but he finally sent them away with a good start. Early in the race Lutchman on Asteroid came to the front, and keeping the lead, won, hands down, with Success a length behind, the same distance separating Steward from Success. Superiority was scratched. Time 1 m. 28 secs.

Betting : Asteroid 1½ to 1, Sattara 7 to 1, Success 5 to 1, Cyclone 12 to 1, Steward 5 to 1, Mirror 4 to 1.

FOURTH RACE.—"The Derby."—Rs. 1,000 from the Fund. For all maiden Arabs. Weight for age. Winners once 7 lbs., twice 10 lbs., oftener 14 lbs. extra. Maidens of the day allowed 4 lbs. Galloways allowed 5 lbs. R. C.

Mr. Ali bin Ameer's b a c Baronet, 7 stone 9 lbs. Ebrahim 1
Mr. Locke's ch a h Isonomy, 8 st 9 lbs, Killick 2
Mr. Newton's ch a h Rocket, 9 st 8 lbs, T Kendall... 3
Mr Newton's g a h Sultan, 9st 10lbs, Noor Mahomed 0
Mr Farmer's g a h Soocab, 9st 8lbs, W Greenhalgh.. 0
Mr Framjee Dorabjee's ch a h Fareed, 9st 3lbs, Hobday 0
Mr Chamundi's b a h Sunshine, 8st 13lbs, D Greenhalgh 0
Mr S A W's b a h Young Sirhan, 8st 12lbs, Ahmed... 0
H H Aga Khan's b a h Tenebreuse, 8st 12lbs, Gibbs.. 0
Aga Z Shah's b a h William, late Joolfan, 8st 8lbs, Dunn 0
H H Aga Khan's g a h Damascus, 8st 8lbs, Oomer... 0

Mr. Beatty handled his field in a masterly manner, and despatched them on even terms. They ran in a clump for some time, when Rocket and Isonomy were seen to draw away from the rest. Coming down the straight Baronet began to work his way up, and won on the post with Isonomy and Rocket second and third. Time 2 m. 53½ secs.

Betting : Soocab 3 to 1, Rocket 2½, Sultan 10 to 1, Isonomy and Fareed 5 to 1, Sunshine 16 to 1, Tenebreuse 12 to 1, Young Sirhan, Damascus and William 16 to 1 ; Baronet 6 to 1.

FIFTH RACE.—"The Welter."—Rs. 500 from the fund. For all Arabs and Bombay Presidency C.-B. s, bona-fide and unconditionally the property of officers of H. M.'s Services, Civil (Covenanted), Military and Naval, and Members of the following clubs, viz. any club in England recognised by the G. N. H. rules ; the Bengal and United Service Clubs, Calcutta ; Byculla, Royal Yacht and Bombay Clubs, Bombay ; Madras Club, Madras ; the Club of Western India, Poona ; and the Sind Club, Karachee. Weight for age raised 21 lbs. Winners, once 7 lbs., twice 10 lbs., oftener 14 lbs. extra. Maidens allowed 7 lbs. ; of the day 14 lbs. Galloways allowed 5 lbs. extra. G. R. 1 mile.

Mr Dale's b n h Heliotrope, 9st 9lbs, Capt Ross 1
Mr DeLisle's b a h Warrior, 11st 10 lbs, Owner 2
Mr M C M's b a h Ringleader, 11st 5lbs, Capt Hanwell 3
Mr Herbert's bn a h Brown Prince, 9st 12lbs, Owner 0
Mr B's ch a c Rufus, 9st 3lbs, T Kendall 0

The start was rather uneven, the consequence being that the field was tailing a good bit before the horses had gone far. Warrior led for some time with Heliotrope and Ringleader close up. Heliotrope pulled off the race after an exciting finish. Time—1 min. 54½ secs.

Betting : Rufus, Warrior, and Heliotrope 3 to 1, Ringleader and Brown Prince 5 to 1.

BOMBAY GYMKHANA.

WIMBLEDON GOLF CUP AND HANDICAP.

THE Wimbledon Cup was played for on Thursday and Saturday mornings. As this is a scratch competition, a handicap was also got up for the benefit of the players who have not yet reached the scratch standard.

The play on Thursday was far from good, with one notable exception. Dunbar, of Calcutta and Nassick fame, has hitherto not done himself justice in any of our local matches, and he came away with a lead of five or six strokes from the scores of the other scratch players, his round being 42. But for some "foozling" on the last green, Dunbar might easily have touched this year's record (41), or even last year's (40). On Saturday, with the commanding lead obtained on the first day's play, Dunbar was expected to come in an easy winner, yet Stiven all but tied with him, and Melvin crept close up. Dunbar ran his second day's score up to 49—not a good round, but, as it happened, with his good start on Thursday, still sufficient to bring him in the winner of the Wimbledon Cup, which he holds for a year. Stiven's score of 43 was the best on Saturday, whilst Melvin was 45.

In the handicap Taylor, who is playing with great steadiness, with his points off, was three points behind Dunbar's total, and fourth in the handicap list. There are now quite a number of young aspirants, and it is hoped that, when the fixed matches are over—only two remain to be played—some handicaps will be played for, in which the younger men will have a chance of heading the list. The following are the scores :—

† Winner of the handicap.

On Thursday, the 1st, the sixth and last competition for the "Forty-twa" Cup takes place. Five players have won it once—Melain, Heaton, Nixon, MacDonald, and Stiven. And should one of these win on Thursday he pulls off the cup. Should, however, an outsider come in, the six winners, having tied, will have to play again to decide who is to be the possessor of the cup.

WESTERN INDIA LAWN-TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

GENTLEMEN'S SINGLES AND DOUBLES.

This meeting begins to-day, and will be continued during the following six playing days, all ties having to be played off by Monday, 3rd proximo. Some additional interest is attached to this year's meeting by the fact that three entries have been received from outstations, and as the visitors are said to be very crack representatives of the game, and most of the leading local celebrities have entered, some most interesting and exciting play may be expected. It is unfortunate that the winner of this year's Marryat Challenge Cup, Mr. Osborne Marshall, who has of late made such rapid strides in the game, has been compelled by indisposition to cancel his entry for the open Challenge Cups. These cups which are of the value of Rs. 500 respectively, with special prizes added, are at present held by the 4th Bombay Rifles, whose representatives, Mr. Saugster and Barton, secured them last year.

We give below the result of the draw for ties :—

POSTAL INCONVENIENCES AT RATNAGIRI.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—If you have room for a few words on such a subject as the postal service in such a district as Ratnagiri, I shall be obliged by your giving a place to the following few remarks :—

I cannot give a better idea of the object I have in view in writing to you on this subject than by stating that I, being at present at a distance of, at most, 140 miles as the crowflies, from Bombay, have to post my letters on Monday, if I wish them to catch the overland mail steamer on Friday. I will admit that I am exceptionally situated, and that at a place ten miles nearer Bombay, I could post my letters as late as Tuesday, and they would catch the Friday's P. and O. steamer. In this district we are the slaves of the runner—a miserably slow and variable beast. You are perhaps aware that the district of Ratnagiri is intersected by creeks, running inland to the foot of the Ghats. As a general rule there is a biggish town at the head (by which I mean the Ghat end) of these creeks, on which creeks ply steam launches in connection with Shepherd and Co.'s mail coasting steamers. I believe Messrs. Shepherd and Co. have offered to convey the post up these creeks on their steam-launches for nothing. It is objected by the postal authorities that the creek steamers are uncertain in their hours of departure and arrival, being dependent on the tide. This is true ; for on one creek the launch's time of arrival at the head of the creek varies between 6 a.m. and 11 a.m., but there is this much certainty about them, that they would, on their latest days, bring the post in two hours earlier than it ever arrives at present.

Why, then, is not this cheaper and speedier method of conveying the post adopted in those places where creek steamers ply ? I have heard it is because the runners, who at present crawl along with our post, have an interest in the present system being continued and make it worth while that it should be continued. Surely the Post Master-General is capable of overruling this petty sort of interest.

It will no doubt be a surprise to you to hear that during the rains runners convey the "tapal" the whole way to Ratnagiri through the Colaba District. With luck they arrive three days after the date of their departure. Given a heavy rainfall and consequent flood and they take 6 or 8 days ! And yet the station of Kolhapur on the S. M. Railway Company is within 81 miles of Ratnagiri, and connected therewith by a first rate carriage road. Could not the postal authorities send the post from Bombay for Ratnagiri by rail to Kohlapur, and by a tonga dak (or even runners) to Ratnagiri ? But I believe the "runner" interest steps in, and forbids an alteration which would ensure the exile at Ratnagiri receiving his post at least one day earlier than by present arrangements he possibly can, and receiving it regularly. How is it that the Post Master-General does not overside the runner interest in a case of this kind. Ratnagiri is at present often eight days from Bombay during the monsoon, though only 150 miles distant on the map.—Yours, &c, C.

IN response to an invitation transmitted through the Agent of the East Indian Railway, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce has appointed a sub-committee to meet and confer with General Strachey, during his stay in Calcutta, on the working of the line, with a view, no doubt, to the further improvement of its traffic facilities. This conference is of course quite distinct from that which, as we have already mentioned, will shortly meet to consider the working of the new docks. We hear that the members of the Chamber's sub-committee are Sir Alex. Wilson, Messrs. Williamson and Petrie, and Mr. H. H. Macleod, of the Bengal Coal Company. A similar invitation has been extended to the Calcutta Trades Association.

LADY REAY'S FANCY FAIR.

IT is always a wise plan, when practicable, to take time by the forelock, and Mr. Phipson, superintendent, general manager, honorary secretary, treasurer, &c., &c., of Lady Reay's Fancy Fair wisely set to work early, the result being that there has been no rush to get things ready, and no failure in any of the arrangements.

Since last Tuesday, when in a preliminary notice we endeavoured to convey an idea of what the grand fête would be like, a very remarkable change has been wrought in the appearance of the Oval. The stalls, eleven in number, situate at the south end of the grounds, are now all ready for the reception of the goods, and for bedeckment at the hands of the lady stallholders. That wonderful structure, the tour d'Eiffel or more properly the tour d' Murzban, is now complete. The inelegant pile of last week has now attained, at the hands of the workmen who have been closely superintended by Khan Bahadur M. C. Murzban, M.I.C.E., a pleasing symmetry, so that what before we could only give a rough-hewn idea of, can now be described more minutely. Considering the very short time that has been occupied in its erection, it is indeed a wonderful structure, which reflects no small amount of credit on Mr. Murzban. But praise is not only due to his skill as a designer ; he merits many thanks for his exertions in another direction. With an eye to economy, and having the objects of the Fair entirely at heart, he set about collecting all the material necessary for the work, from whatever source he could, without paying for it. Whatever could be begged or borrowed was carried off to build the tower with, so that were the secret revealed, or the truth told, many would scarcely credit the small amount of money it has taken to construct the tower with. And now to explain how it has been built. Being erected so rapidly, many, imagining it of flimsy construction, may fear to trust themselves upon it. But there need be no timidity on that score. First of all eight feet below the ground a solid foundation of masonry was laid more than sufficient to bear the sixteen stout pillars which hold all together. The tower is octagonal in shape, eight pillars running up on the outside, the other eight lending additional strength by forming an octagon on the inside. Between these two sets of pillars the spiral stair is built. It is strong enough to bear without the slightest danger two hundred persons, in fact, almost as many as could be crowded on it. But crowding will not be allowed. For the sake of comfort no more than fifty will be permitted to ascend at one time. A change, however, has been made in the mode of decorating the tower. Last week it was mentioned it would be covered in and garnished with shrubbery, that it would be in fact a floral tower, from amid whose leaves at night would peep hundreds of coloured lights. A pretty effect, no doubt, it would have made, but it has been found there is no reason why the design of the tower should be hidden. It is ornamental enough as it is, and painted in a pale blue tint, ought to look beautiful under the electric light. Capped by a crimson dome, surmounted by a large flag, while banners also float from the eight corners at both the middle balcony and the summit, both design and decoration are at once elegant and chaste.

The view of the fair ground on Saturday evening, if not as attractive as it will be on Wednesday, was sufficiently lively to interest one ; while it proved how happy was the idea to erect such a structure in the centre of the ground. The tower, to the top of the dome, is exactly one hundred and twenty feet above the level of the Oval ; to the landing at the summit it is only eighty feet, though this is quite high enough for the purpose it has to serve, while a flight of 136 steps is no mean climb on a warm afternoon. Still the view amply repays the labour. Everything that is going on in the enclosed space below can be seen. Mr. Phipson is somewhat anxious about the camera obscura which he intended fixing at the top of the tower. It has not yet arrived, and if it be not on board of the P. and O. s. s. Rome the fair will have to go on, minus that little attraction. It will be a pity ; but it hardly requires a camera to discover all that is going on below. Not a part of the ground but is in full view of the spectator ; even all that is going on in Lady Morland's Café Chantant and in the auditorium of the "Royalty" Theatre can be easily observed.

On Saturday afternoon there was a goodly number of visitors on the Oval eager to see how matters were progressing, and everything, as has been already hinted, was found in a state well nigh completion. The semi-circle in front of the stalls was the quietest part of the grounds, although piles of mysterious-looking boxes lay about in profusion, awaiting the process of unpacking. Lady Morland's Café Chantant is going to be a charming lounge. Under the hands of Mr. Phipson and Mr. Maillard the pretty little stage, in the course of the afternoon, assumed a most attractive appearance, all dressed in crimson draperies with side wings to match. Singing in the open is usually rather trying but a sounding board in the roof has been tested and found satisfactory. The stage of the "Royalty" Theatre on the other side of the tower is, considering the nature of the performances to be given there, naturally a larger and more elaborate structure, and looks very pretty in its white and scarlet curtainings. Scenery is being brought from the Novelty Theatre, and Mrs. Pottinger and Captain Hobday are being assisted in their endeavours to amuse by the Parsee Victoria Dramatic Company, who have offered their services, and will on one of the evenings produce on the boards of the "Royalty" a Guzeratee play. One establishment, mention of which was omitted in last week's notice, is Colonel Merriman's Cigar Divan, which is situated immediately to the right of the main entrance. The younger portion of intending patrons will be delighted to learn that the steam merry-go-round, with its apparatus and horses, have all arrived, only waiting to be rigged up at the northern end of the Fair ground.

None have been working harder during the past week than Mr. Crawford, electrician to Messrs. Volkart Brothers, and his assistant Mr. Dawes, in fixing up the electric light. The erecting of electric lighting apparatus is usually not only a slow process, but the utmost amount of care is necessary ; and the amount of their labour may be imagined when it is stated that from a mile and a quarter to a mile and a third of wire has had to be suspended overhead from post to post, of which there are twenty-one, bearing powerful arc lamps of about three hundred candle power each. The current will be supplied from two powerful engines, situate, one at the north and the other at the south end of the grounds, on the ride outside the enclosure. It may here be added that the kitchens with their cooking stoves and other paraphernalia are also being fitted up outside the canvas, the idea of isolating them being to prevent any risk of fire reaching the tenting. This of course has necessitated the closing up of Rotten Row against horsemen until the Fair is over. Coming back to the main entrance, sufficient has already been said as to its having been constructed of necessary breadth to prevent crowding having any serious effect, and now that it is up, all that can be added is that the three arch-ways which form the main entrance, though plain, are neat and attractive in design, painted in pale blue to match the tower and other decorative features of the place.

Mr. Phipson, Mr. Murzban, and their assistants are to be complimented on the smoothness with which their plans have been completed ; there can now be no danger of everything not being ready for the opening on Wednesday afternoon at half-past four, or even of a rush at the last moment.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

SIMLA, Feb. 23.—Barometer has changed by small amounts, and fallen in north-western India, and western half of the Peninsula ; it is risen in north-eastern India and eastern half of the Peninsula. Distribution is little changed, and gradients are slight. Winds blow from about normal directions. The only important change being a shift to south-east Colombo. Temperature is above the average every where, maxima in the Berars, Bombay, Deccan, and Guzerat. Weather is still cloudy, in north-west India, and fine elsewhere. One inch of rain has fallen in Colombo. Weather is fine generally, and there is little immediate prospect of rain any where. The only important feature in weather recorded is south-easterly wind and rain in Ceylon.

present indications for future guidance; practical question is, what forecast do they and justify in regard to the coming Budget? chief difficulties, with which Indian finance has esent to contend, are, Exchange, Opium, Burma, ine, War, and Military Expenditure, and let us how we stand in respect of each of those disturb-ng factors of a general nature in the financial posi-tion of the country.

(1) Exchange.—Telegraphic quotations during the past twelve-months have been as under :—

	s.	d.		s.	d.
March	1	4 17-32	per rupee.	Sept...	1 4	5-16	per rupee.
April..	1	4 5-16	,,	Oct ...	1 4	7-16	,,
May...	1	4 5 16	,,	Nov ...	1 4	⅜	,,
June...	1	4 3-32	,,	Dec ...	1 4	27-32	,,
July...	1	4 7-32	,,	Jan ...	1 5	13-32	,,
Aug ...	1	4 3-16	,,	Feb ... (first week)	1 5	9-32	,,

The lowest point was reached in June, and since then, apart from a slight fall during last week, after oscillations of a slight nature, the rise of the rupee has been steady and the oscillations of last week's quotations apart, which are clearly temporary, there is no reason to fear that the present level reached in the upward movement of Exchange may not be maintained during the coming year, even if it should not indeed rise as during the last six months. The exchange rate taken in the Financial Statement of last year was 1s. 4d. = one rupee, and the quotation of January last is 1s. 5 13-32d. or a trifle over a penny higher. Taking the total net gold expenditure of the Government of India at £15,170,000 (as in last year's Budget) the effect of this rise of the rupee from 1s. 4d. to 1s. 5 13-32d. on the rupee amount of Home Charges may be estimated thus :—

Loss by exchange on £15,170,000 at 1s. 4d. = Rx. 7,054,000,
,, ,, ,, ,, ,, 1s. 5 13-32d. = Rx. 5,720,000

Net saving by difference of rate = Rx. 1,334,000 or 1 1-3 crores of rupees.

(2) Opium.—"The future of the Opium Revenue," remarked Sir D. Barbour in his last Budget speech, "is surrounded with almost as much uncertainty as the question of Exchange"; but the latest returns show a promising result up to February :—

Estimate.	Actual realisations.	Net increase over estimate.
Rx. 7,260,720	Rx. 7,686,300	Rx. 425,500

This is a most satisfactory increase under this head of revenue, and marks a hopeful recovery from the drop of 1887-8, and ought to dissipate our fears in regard to the working of the Chefoo Convention, (add. Art) in regard to our opium receipts, commented upon by Mr. Westland in his Financial Statement of 1888-9 (vide paras 52-56). By the end of March, the increase may mount up to 50 lakhs, and this will be an important item in the surplus of the coming year.

(3) Burma.—The financial out-look in Upper Burma is hopeful, and it is a pity that Lord R. Churchill is not now our Secretary of State to announce the glorious promise of his pet province. The returns show that the revenue of Upper Burma will most likely be between 99 and 100 lakhs instead of the estimate of 88½ lakhs,—an increase of about 12 lakhs. On the Expenditure side, there will be room for reduction in the cost of the Military Police stationed in the province. The present strength is 18,000 (raised from 13,000 to 18,000 in 1888-9), which seems now rather excessive, considering that the work of pacification is now completed, and that the new territory is being rapidly opened out by roads and railways. There is also room for economies in civil expenditure (e. g., Civil Works) as suggested by Sir D. Barbour in his Budget Statement of last year, para 61. On the whole, putting the two sides of the account together, it is safe to assume that Upper Burma finance will be about 16 lakhs better next year than during the year about to close.

Thus, Exchange, Opium, and Upper Burma together promise to give us a surplus of 2 crores next year, not to speak of other items,—

Exchange	134 lakhs
Opium	50 ,,
Upper Burma	16 ,,
Total...	200 lakhs.

(4) Famine.—Such is the uncertainty of the Indian seasons that this danger is never absent. But, so far, season reports even from Upper India are not unfavourable, and your apprehensions about short crops there seems at best premature. For the present, therefore, I think, Sir D. Barbour will be justified in putting aside this potential element of financial disturbance.

(5) War.—The Sikkim difficulty is settled, and the Chin-Lushai Expedition, according to recent telegrams, is rapidly nearing its close; and the special charge of Rx. 314,500 provided for in last year's Budget for these expeditions, will be saved in the coming year. Further Sir D. Barbour will be able to repeat to the country his assurance of last year on the point—to the effect that no reasons exist "for thinking that War on a larger scale is likely to occur in the immediate future." There is at present no cloud discernible on the political horizon.

(6).—Military Expenditure.—This is a disturbing factor of undefined magnitude in our financial position. It ought to be kept under due control, but unfortunately it is not; and our Military Budget is growing—and growing ad libitum et ad infinitum. But, on this point, Sir D. Barbour assures us "that the sacrifices which the country has been called on to make in recent years have not been in vain; that the original programme of military defences is approaching completion, and that there is at least some prospect of an alteration of existing burdens." (Vide his Budget speech of last year.) Going into detail, he tells us, (1) "it should be recollected that in recent years we have had to bear the burden of a considerable increase to the Native and European Army, that increase has been completed and its cost, provided for"; (2) "heavy expenditure has also been incurred on Frontier Railways. The total estimated cost of these railways is Rx. 13,410 700, of which Rx. 10,083,300 will have been met at the end of this month, and Rx. 1,191,800 is provided for in the Estimates of 1889-90, leaving only Rx. 2,135, 600 for future years"; and (3) "we have also been carrying out an extensive scheme of Coast and Frontier Defences, estimated to cost Rx. 5, 440, 575 (which is charged against Revenue) of which Rx. 1,850,768 will have been expended by the end of this year and Rx. 1,102,700 is provided for in the estimates of the coming year, leaving Rx. 2,495,847 to be incurred in subsequent years." Thus, of the total estimated cost of these Frontier Railways and Coast and Frontier Defences, (18·3 crores) 14¼ crores will have been expended by the end of this financial year, and if the remaining cost (4·6 crores) were only spread over 4 years instead of 2, we should have at once one crore less of such expenditure next year, to the great relief of the finances of the country. Again, in the last year's Budget a sum of Rx. 203,500 was provided on account of Army Corps mobilization, as one of the necessary "precautions" in those days of "scientific warfare"; and we were assured that the greater portion of the cost will be incurred once for all and will not recur. This is, therefore one more item of saving in the next year's Budget. With regard to the arming of the European regiments Rx. 301,800 was sanctioned last year "on account of magazine rifles and 12-pounder breech-loading guns," and possibly an equal amount will be spent on the same account in the coming year, but there will be no increase of charge. This item, apart, as also the cost of Frontier Railways and Defence Works, we have here a net saving of Rx. 203,500.

Thus, besides, the 20 lakhs of surplus we hope for under Exchange, Opium, and Upper Burma, there is the prospect of a further item of Rx. 579,000 including Rx. 315,300 for the Sikhim and Lushai Expeditions, and Rx. 203,500 on account of mobilisation. But to this there is a set-off. Last year, under special arrangements, the Government of India got a contribution of Rx. 740,000 from Local Governments, "of this amount Rx. 250,000 is permanent, being made up of Rx. 200,000 from the Patwari Cess and about Rx. 50,000 from Lower Burma. The balance of Rx. 490,000 we receive for a single year only, and unless other arrangements can be made, we must be prepared to accept a reduction of Rs 490,000 in the Estimates of 1890-91." (F. S. of last year.) The reduction can be met out of a saving of Rx. 519,000 under Ward and Military Expenditure without any inconvenience. Thus, we seem to arrive at the following rough forecast of the coming surplus :—

Exchange	134 lakhs.
Opium	50 ,,
Upper Burma	16 ,,
War	31 ,,
Other Military Expenditure	20 ,,
Total...	251 lakhs.

Deduct 49 lakhs on account of Provincial Contributions = net surplus 202 lakhs.

This estimate does not include a saving of a crore or so in the year's expenditure, which might be effected without detriment to the public interests, under Military Defence Works, by spreading the cost of the remaining works over a few more years. This being so I am unable to accept your views that the coming Budget may show only a "fair" equilibrium, and I adhere to the opinion I expressed in a former letter that the coming surplus cannot be less than 2 crores at least.

The question of the coming surplus is a question that concerns not so much the 295,000 persons who pay the income-tax, nor even Lord Dufferin's microscopic minority who lead the Congress movement, as the dumb, speechless millions and millions behind them, who know not from one end of the year to the other what it is to have a full meal. It is these—and not the upper ten thousand—who are thirsting for relief in the matter of the salt-tax which fall upon them with peculiar pressure. If Sir D. Barbour really sympathises with these poorer millions of the tax-paying community, and cares for their comfort, and prefers to make their dearly-prized salt cheaper by taking 8 annas off this heavy tax, instead of handing over his expected surplus to the tender mercies of the military authorities, clearly he has ways and means of doing so. When this salt-tax was enhanced and in the spring of 1888, Mr. Westland, the then Financial Minister, gave a comforting assurance to the Council and to the country that such enhancement would have no appreciable effect on the people's consumption of salt. Two years have rolled by, and Government has "slept and slumbered," (as Lord R. Churchill would put it) over the working of that measure, lulled into a mood of self-complacency, not of course by the supposed "languor of this land of the lotus" but by the comforting assurance of Mr. Westland; and now there is a wide-awakening in the "disheartening" prospect of a large fall off in the country's consumption of this necessary of life to the extent of nearly 30 lakhs of maunds. In the presence of such a prospect, the nation will watch—and watch with anxious solicitation—how Sir D. Barbour will use his opportunities in March next.—Yours, &c.,

SANITATION IN SALSETTE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—From the following observations, it will be apparent that Gorai has been treated all along by the local authorities as a step-child :—

(1) Being in need of good water, the inhabitants applied for the supply of that want. After several representations it was granted, but being brackish and unfit for drinking purposes, the people have to get their supplies from some other sources, which depends upon the good-will of private owners.

(2) There is not a single medical man or a dispensary within an easy distance. If one wants the aid or assistance of one or the other, he must travel a long way to Bandora or Bassein.

(3) After repeated representations a road is laid out (not fully brought to completion up to now), leading from Borivli to Gorai. This work, however, is so bad that it does not reflect credit upon those who are pledged to look after the public interests.

(4) On hearing of the prevalence of cholera, a medical man was at length sent, but it appears that he did no more than entrust the medicines to the Vicar of the Church, and took his way to Uran. No other measures appear to have been taken in connection with the cholera.

(5) Though several communications have been addressed, the Vandarkhari nuisance has not yet been entirely removed.—Yours, &c.,

F. G. R.

A CONTRACT TICKET-HOLDER'S GRIEVANCES.

THE following letter has been addressed to the Acting Agent and General Traffic Manager of the G. I. P. Railway :—

To Henry Cowder, Esq., Acting Agent, and General Traffic Manager, Great Indian Peninsula Railway Co., Victoria Terminus.

SIR,—We, the undersigned Periodical Ticket Holders, residing to the east of the Byculla Station and travelling daily between that station and Victoria Teminus, beg to lay our grievances before you, and trust that you will be pleased to have them redressed as early as possible. Ever since periodical tickets were introduced in the railway, pass-holders were allowed the free use of the south-east gate as a way both in and out. It is, however, surprising that of late the gate is not available for egress to down periodical ticket-holders, whereas ingress is permitted to take the up-trains. It would be reasonable to prohibit any passenger without a ticket coming in by the above gate, but it is difficult to understand why it should be closed to down periodical ticket-holders leaving the station, seeing that a ticket-collector is posted thereat who can examine the passes, whenever he chooses to do so. By the enforcement of the restriction referred to we are put to a deal of inconvenience and unnecessary loss of time by our having to go over the Ollivant Bridge. We are, however, confident, that it was never contemplated to apply the ruling to us, and no doubt you will, on receipt of this, remove the restriction, so far as periodical ticket-holders are concerned.

Bombay, 22nd February, 1890.

MORE FIRES IN BOMBAY.

ANOTHER large fire occurred in Bombay on Saturday morning last, about 3-45 a.m., in a house situated in Cazee Syed Street, commonly known as Khand Bazar, i. e., sugar market, situated a few hundred yards off Khoja Mohulla and Mandvi Bunder, the most important commercial centre in the native town. A mere glance at Khand Bazar, with its stately houses, five and six storeys high—the properties of the richest Bhattia merchants of the city, closely crowded and thickly populated, with its vast godowns filled with every description of merchandise, worth many lakhs of rupees—would show that Bombay has had a narrow escape from another fire which might have been equally disastrous with, if not more so than, the fire that took place in Nagdevy Street a few days ago. The prevention of a similar disaster was due to a lucky combination of circumstances. No strong breeze was blowing at the time ; there was quite an abundant supply of water ; all the steam fire-engines turned out with all possible expedition and were worked so efficiently as to confine the fire to the house in which it originated. It was a house, the property of one Moosa Mopea, not so large and valuable as the great majority of the houses in the street and in its immediate vicinage, and was stored with piles of gunny-bags and bags of sugar. At the early hour of the morning abovementioned, the fire might have remained undetected for some time further, but for the circumstance of its being discovered by a passer-by, who saw volumes of smoke issuing from the house, and at once made a report to the police. The telephone was soon brought into requisition ; and a summons to the various fire-brigade stations by means of it, was promptly responded to. Worked with a will, the steamers succeeded in a short time in bringing the fire under control ; and it was extinguished as daylight broke upon the scene, the house of Moosa and all its contents being destroyed. The house was of the value of about Rs. 12,000, and the goods in it were of he value of about Rs. 29,000, making a total loss of about Rs. 41,000.

Another fire, though on a smaller scale, broke out after midnight on Friday last, in a timber warehouse, belonging to one Cassum Abbadeen, situated at the Cleveland Bunder, Worlee. The Paedhonee and Gowallia Tank steam fire-engines were taken to the place soon after an alarm of fire was raised, and were worked vigorously with an ample supply of water from the Vehar main and from the sea. The fire was put out about 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, the damage being estimated at about Rs. 600.

THE FATAL FALL DOWN A SHIP'S HOLD.

THE adjourned inquest was resumed on Saturday last by the coroner, Dr. Blaney, at the morgue, into the circumstances connected with the death of Namdarkhan Raimankhan, a ship's labourer, employed on board the s. s. Arabia, lying in this harbour, who was killed by a fall into the forehold of that ship on the night of the 17th instant. Mr. Byrne, of the firm of Roughton and Byrne, watched the proceedings on behalf of the chief officer of the ship.

Mr. Crawford Willis, the chief officer of the steamship Arabia in his evidence, stated that about 11-45 or 12 o'clock on the night of the 17th instant Constable Ellis came on board. He and witness went down the main hatch, along 'tween decks, climbed over the horse polo barricades, which are about 5 feet high in the middle and about 3 feet on the sides of the ship. They went down the forehold, and saw some blood on one of the starboard bilges under the forehatch. The 'tween deck forehatches were off to dry up the hold, which had been washed out. The horse poles were put up in Bushire to divide the forehatch from the mainhatch cargo. It would take ten men about an hour and a half to remove and replace the holes, and they could not do it without making a noise. The holes were not moved from one place to another between 11 p.m. and midnight on the 17th instant. Witness was awake during the whole of that time and waiting for the police. A man walking backwards from the main to the fore hatch on the 'tween decks could not fall into the forehold. The poles would have prevented him. No cargo was being worked on the 17th instant. Mr. Robert Bolton, an officer of the ship, did not report to him that the deceased had fallen into the hold, but at that time on the witness coming on deck he then reported the occurrence to him.

Constable Ellis, of the Water Police, and Mr. William Fearn, the Preventive Officer of the Bombay Customs, doing duty on board the s. s. Arabia on the night in question corroborated the statement made by Mr. Willis, the chief officer of the ship.

Dr. Nusserwanjee Hormusjee Chaksey, who made a post-mortem examination on the body of the deceased on the afternoon of the 18th instant at the morgue, was of opinion from the post-mortem appearances that the cause of death was fracture of the skull, and such a fracture could be caused by falling on his head.

The coroner's jury thereupon returned the following verdict unanimously :—"That the death of Namdarkhan Raimankhan was caused by fracture of the skull, the result of a fall into the hold of a ship. But under what circumstances he fell, there is not sufficient evidence to enable the jury to say.

THE MADRAS CONGRESS PETITION.

THE following petition adopted at a public meeting at the Madras Town Hall has been forwarded to the House of Commons :—

Sheweth,—1. That your petitioners, being loyal subjects of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen-Empress of India, are entitled and qualified to enjoy some voice in the administration of that country which, in the case of the major portion of your petitioners, is their native land, and, in the case of some of your petitioners, is their land either of adoption or of long continued, though temporary, residence.

2. That your petitioners and their fellow-subjects are taxed and legislated for without any degree of representation, with results which, however well intentioned, impose in many instances unnecessary and oppressive hardships on the people.

3. That over the expenditure of such taxes, your petitioners and their fellow-subjects have no control ; that the legislation is defective because the legislative body is small and mainly official, and where non-official is wholly nominated, so that it is from its constitution inherently unable to conceive and provide for the true wants and the real wishes of the ruled.

4. That with a view to remedy the present condition of affairs, and in the spirit of the gracious proclamation of Her Imperial Majesty, your petitioners, believing that their prayer for the introduction of a system of partial representation will meet with a sympathetic reception both from the people of Great Britain and Ireland and from that people's representatives in Parliament assembled, respectfully pray that your honourable House will be pleased to direct that one half of the Imperial Legislative Council of India and one half of the local Legislative Council of Madras shall for the future be elected, subject to such restrictions and qualifications as to the exercise of the franchise and the superintending control of H. E. the Viceroy and of H. E. the Governor of Madras in Council as are, with other matters of detail, provided for in the Bill to be introduced into your honourable House by the honourable the Junior Member for Northampton, to whose measure, as incorporating the views of the Fifth Indian National Congress and its predecessors, your petitioners earnestly entreat your honourable House to accord its protection and approval.

AN accident occurred a short time ago on board the P. and O. R. M. S. Victoria, in Colombo harbour, which might have ended fatally but for the prompt and gallant action of Dr. H. W. Powell, the ship's surgeon, and Mr. Noake, the chief officer. On Tuesday night, the 28th January, at 9 o'clock p.m., a lady passenger fell overboard from the Victoria. Dr. Powell, who was on deck at the time of the occurrence, without waiting to divest himself of his clothing, at once plunged overboard, swam to the sinking lady, and kept her afloat. When Mr. Noake, the chief officer, came on deck, seeing the danger of the situation, he also plunged overboard, and between them the lady was rescued and brought on board the ship, where restoratives were applied successfully. Dr. Powell will be remembered in connection with the loss of the Tasmania.

DEDICATION OF THE BOWEN MEMORIAL CHURCH.

THE dedication service, by which the above-mentioned church was opened for public worship, was held on Saturday evening, at 6 p.m. The foundation-stone of this edifice was, it will be remembered, laid on the 2nd day of January, 1889. The firm of Messrs. Morris and Gostling are the architects, and the building, as it now stands, with the interior complete, and the exterior only requiring a few finishing touches, reflects great credit upon them, and especially does it speak well for Mr. Morris, upon whose shoulders, it is believed, most of this work has been thrown. Considerable difficulty was experienced at the outset, as the outside walls form an irregular figure, but by a little ingenious management the angles have been cut off and converted into halls and vestrys, so that the interior of the building itself has no unseemly angles. The structure, as is well known, is situated upon the new road, between the north end of the Apollo Hotel and the Apollo Bunder itself, having, therefore, a most central and airy site. Though not fully completed, the tower having still much work needed to finish it, the place, as a whole, presents a neat and trim appearance. It is built in the Gothic style, and is two stories high, that above the church itself being intended for the residence of the pastor when it is completed. The hall in which worship is to be conducted is an extremely pretty room. It has a light and elegant appearance, and its general decorations are quite in keeping with the purpose for which it has been constructed. It has an open timbered roof, which is supported by carved brackets having enriched corbells. The main entrance is under the tower, at the north-west corner of the building. All along the west side of the hall runs a gallery, finished off with well-carved open timber work, whilst a staircase of the same design leading to this gallery and to the parsonage above has been erected at the south-west angle of the building. The hall itself is sixty feet in length by 30ft. in breadth, and the place is altogether, with the gallery, capable of seating upwards of 300 persons. Fully that number must have been present on Saturday evening. The proceedings commenced by the singing of an anthem by the choir. This was followed by prayer, and then two scripture lessons were read —the first by the Rev. J. Robinson, the pastor, and the second by the Rev. W. F. Rowe, of Poona. A hymn was then sung both by the choir and the congregation. Then followed a discourse by Bishop Thoburn. The reverend gentleman took for his text I. Kings XVIII—24, "The God that answereth by fire, let him be God," dwelling upon the analogy between the calling down of fire from heaven by the Prophet Elijah and the spiritual fire which they by the grace of God hoped would be sent down upon them that day, and upon the work of dedication in which they were then engaged. His discourse was a lengthy one, and he touched upon many subjects, denouncing the system of the confessional and comparing what he said was real fire from heaven, obtained by spiritual contact of the soul with God himself and the false idea of pardon which was set forth by this system. He spoke of the unrivalled and unequalled power of the Bible, comparing it with the writings recognised as sacred by heathen religions, and with the works of ancient philosophers, holding it forth as being separated by a wide gulf, by a vast strength and purity, from anything ever written by man. At the conclusion of this address, Mr. Morris read a statement showing the condition of the finances of the building fund. The cost of the building, including the parsonage, had amounted to thirty thousand rupees, whilst the furniture, the ground-rent, legal, and miscellaneous expenses amounted to another Rs. 4,500. Towards the liquidation of this debt, they had already received a grant from the Missionary Society of Rs. 14,450 Rs. 4,124 had been collected by subscriptions, and they had promises of Rs. 2,809 more. They had obtained a loan of Rs. 12,000 upon the buildings on mortgage, so that the amount required to place them in their proper position was Rs. 13,117. The church was founded in 1872 by Bishop William Taylor. The church members had been obliged to worship in hired halls, since the beginning of 1873. For three-and-a-half years the premises were in Forbes Street, then they had occupied Dean Hall, for ten and a half years, and the Apollo Hall for two years. For the last year they had been kindly permitted to use the premises of the Young Men's Christian Association, or they would have had no place of worship to attend.

Mr. Fox next gave a short but stirring address relative to the want of funds which the church was suffering under. He said that he had no doubt that every one present had come with the intention of giving something, but that they might have an opportunity of giving more than they had come prepared to do. Tickets would be distributed by those who collected the offertory, and they might write upon those tickets any amount they pleased, and might if they wished extend the payment over a space of two or even three years. He related very amusing methods which he had witnessed of obtaining large collections from a congregation. It appeared that on one occasion, at a church when they had a particularly good choir, the following scene occurred :—The choir sang the choicest music, and each member of the congregation, as he felt constrained or became excited by the words which were being sung to advance to the table and place his donation there. The scene took place in America. A man advanced, put down a dollar, took back 50 cents, and walked to his seat. Presently, moved by the music, he made a second journey to the table, put back his 50 cents and took up 25, returned a third time, exchanging his 25 cents for 10 cents, and so on, until the church had the benefit of his original dollar. No such means were resorted to on Saturday, but notwithstanding this, the collection amounted to Rs. 2,700, a large share for 300 people to take in a debt of Rs. 13,400. When every one had had a chance of contributing, the service of dedication was commenced ; Psalm CXXII. being read responsively, the whole congregation standing. Bishop Thoburn conducted the ceremony of dedication, and then one or two of the gentlemen upon the platform engaged in prayer. A dismission hymn was then sung, and the service concluded with the Doxology and Benediction.

There were present upon the platform, Bishop Thoburn, Rev. J. Robinson, the Pastor, Rev. J. F. Rowe, Rev. J. Stone, and the Revs. Fox and Shiveley.

CAMPS OF EXERCISE AT CALCUTTA.

THE various manœuvres which have been in progress in the neighbourhood of Calcutta were brought to a conclusion on the 16th instant by a river attack on Fulta. The general arrangements for the defence were made by Major Weir, R. A., and those for the attack by Lieutenant King, who commanded the Calcutta Naval Volunteers. This Corps has especial experience in the navigation of the Hoogly, and turned out with their accustomed smartness when they were invited to take part in the contemplated operations.

The launch Leopard, which has been handed over by Government to the Naval Volunteers, was supposed to represent a man-of-war, armed with modern breech loading guns and the full complement of machine and quick-firing guns. Three boats, a pinace, cutter and dighy, represented the small launches which would usually accompany a large vessel told off to attack a river battery. Major Weir, R. A., had under his command the garrison battery and the Companies of the 2nd Bengal Infantry who were in camp at Fulta. His artillery manned the guns, and the infantry were so disposed as to repel any attempt at landing.

The attackers waited until dark, then suddenly appeared off Fulta Point, and opened fire with their big guns, when the electric light was turned upon them. The glare of the electric light lighted up the whole deck making it quite easy to read or write or work the guns, but it also rendered the navigation of the vessel extremely difficult since the area outside the light was pitch dark. Lieutenant King's men were by no means daunted at this, and handled their vessel with great skill, avoiding all the shoals and mud banks, and advancing steadily towards the battery preceded by the boats which were to attack the guard boats of the defence. A continual interchange of shots between the battery and the ships took place, the electric light being constantly kept on the Leopard, so that she stood clear out against the surface of the water, and the faces of the crew on the deck could be distinguished from the land. The attacking boats soon became engaged with the guard boats anchored in the ship's channel, and a lively contest ensued. A continual fire of musketry and machine guns was kept up from the land and boats, the large guns being fired from time to time to indicate that they were in action. The attack was pushed to the bitter end, until the Leopard had steamed passed the battery. The report of the umpires is not yet known, but will, we hear, be communicated in due course to the combatants. We are informed that General Auchinleck has written officially to thank and congratulate the officers and men of the Calcutta Naval Volunteers on the zealous and able manner in which their operations were carried out, clearly showing that, in event of necessity, the Corps would be an invaluable addition to the floating defence of the Hooghly.—Englishman.

A SEQUEL TO THE BRAEMER DIVORCE CASE.

AT the Small Cause Court on Saturday Mr. W. E. Hart, Chief Judge, delivered judgment in the suit of Peter Hamilton versus Radolf Carl Richard Braemer. Mr. Hemming, of Messrs. Macfarlane, Edgelow, and Hemming, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Byron, of Messrs. Roughton and Byron, for the defendant.

His Honour, in delivering judgment, said : This suit was instituted on 8th November 1889, to recover Rs. 983-11, made up as follows : Rs. 220, the amount of a loan to be repaid on 2nd August, 1889, and Rs. 240, the amount of the "former balance to be repaid by Rs. 50 per month, which two amounts are included in a receipt, or acknowledgment, dated 3rd July, 1889, alleged to be signed by the defendant ; Rs. 365, the value of a gold watch and chain of the plaintiff converted by the defendant to his use ; Rs. 62-15 the amount of a loan to the defendant by the plaintiff on 7th April, 1888 ; Rs. 80, the value of a set of harness and saddle, bridle, and stirrups of the plaintiff converted by the defendant to his use ; and Rs. 15-12 interest on the whole claim. As to the interest I cannot see on what principles or principle it is charged, or at what rate, or from what date, and therefore disallow it. The Rs. 62-15 must also be disallowed on the plaintiff's own showing, for if his case be true as regards the making of the receipt of 3rd July, 1889, he then accepted it as an adjustment of the defendant's account up to that date. He produces no accounts himself, and is unable to say what item, if any, was excluded from that adjustment. But Rs. 62-15 lent on 7th April, 1888, would naturally be included in the "former balance" of Rs. 240 as certified on 3rd July, 1889, and the plaintiff does not show how or why it was not. This sum then even if lent, which the defendant denies, must be disallowed as a separate item of charge. Again, as to this balance of Rs. 240, also denied by the defendant, the plaintiff, on his own showing, agreed on 3rd July, 1889, in consideration of the adjustment, to take it by monthly instalments of Rs. 50, and no power was reserved to him to claim the whole in defaul of one. Therefore an action for the whole Rs. 240 brought before 4th December 1889, is pre mature, and I must strike this item out of the present claim, but reserve leave to the plaintiff to sue again in respect of it if so advised. As to his Rs. 220, the defendant denies the loan, and alleges that the signature to the receipt on which the plaintiff relies as evidence of his claim is a forgery in the handwriting of his wife, who was described as a god-daughter and ward of the plaintiff. She was the only witness who could speak to the making of this disputed receipt of 3rd July, 1889, the body of which is admittedly in her handwriting, and she gave a minute, circumstantial, and, on the whole, not improbable account of it. Considering, however, the very unhappy relations that have admittedly existed for sometime past between herself, her mother, and the plaintiff, on the one side, and her husband on the other side, and the freedom with which they all resort to the use of the process of the law, for the purpose not so much of protecting their own rights as of annoying and disgracing each other, I should be very cautious in accepting her uncorroborated statement as establishing a case against her husband, especially at the suit of the plaintiff. His honour then reviewed the evidence, and in conclusion said :—I find the defendant does not prove the gift to him, by which alone he seeks to account for his possession of the watch and chain, and on the admitted facts it is improbable such gift was made. I therefore allow the plaintiff's claim in this respect Rs. 365 ; but as much of the plaintiff's evidence on this point seems to me to be at least of doubtful veracity, and my finding after all is based rather on probabilities than facts, and no deterioration of articles is alleged, the amount of the decree will be reduced by Rs. 365 on the return of the watch and chain forthwith by the defendant to the plaintiff. The last item of Rs. 80 is thus apportioned by the plaintiff—Rs. 50 as the value of a new set of single harness taken by the defendant in September and converted to his own use, and Rs. 30 the value of a second-hand saddle, bridle, and stirrups taken by the defendant in April on an agreement to purchase it. As to the harness, it appears from the evidence of the defendant's wife that the plaintiff consented to the defendant taking the harness in September on condition that it was returned, and that it was returned also appears from her evidence, for she was using it on 19th October, when she drove to Colaba, with a man named Tritsch, from the plaintiff's house in Byculla, where she was then living apart from the defendant. On the way, Tritsch got out to look at a dead buffalo, when the defendant came up, turned his wife out, drove off to his own quarters, with the dog cart and horse, which were admittedly his, and the harness which was admittedly the plaintiff's, and it was not till receipt of the plaintiff's attorney's letter of demand of 29th October that any demand was made in regard to the harness, when the defendant was called on, not to return it, but to pay Rs. 80 as "due" to the plaintiff for the harness and saddle together. The defendant admits possession of the plaintiff's harness since 19th October, but professes himself willing to return it, and produces a set of single harness in Court as the plaintiff's which he was willing to return. There seems to me, therefore, to have been no conversation of this, if the harness produced by the defendant is, in fact, that which was on hisborse on the 19th October. This the plaintiff denied, as did also the plaintiff's wife and the "ghorawalla." But when pressed to point out any difference, all they could say was that that was brand new harness in first rate condition, whereas this is old and in bad condition. But the maker or seller of the brand new harness was not forthcoming, nor was any evidence as to the exact date of purchase. On the other hand, the plaintiff wished me to believe that though it was about a year and a half ago that he purchased the brand new harness he had kept it ever since unused and in first rate condition. But it appeared that about a year ago an old horse of the plaintiff's died, with which he used an old set of harness, and that old set of harness was not produced. I am, therefore, of opinion that the set of harness which the defendant took on the 19th October was certainly not brand new and in first rate condition, and was probably the old set that belonged to "the old horse that died," and I believe it to be that produced in Court by the defendant, and therefore disallow the plaintiff's claim in this respect. As to the agreement to buy the second hand saddle for Rs. 30, the evidence on this point is very vague. All that appears certain is that while the defendant was living with the plaintiff, he did use an old saddle belonging to the latter, which was afterwards stolen from the plaintiff's premises, but not, so far as the evidence shows, through any default of the defendant. He is, therefore, not shown to have agreed to buy it before the theft, and there is no reason why he should have undertaken to pay for it after the theft, and I disallow the plaintiff's claim in this respect also. This judgment will, therefore, be for the plaintiff for Rs. 585 and costs to be reduced to Rs. 220 with costs on Rs. 585, if the defendant forthwith return to the plaintiff the gold watch and chain ; and I certify the plaintiff's professional costs Rs. 51, and reserve to him the right to bring a fresh suit, if so advised, for Rs. 240.

VOLUNTEER OFFICERS' DINNER.

ON Saturday night, at 8-15, the Bombay Volunteer Officers held their monthly mess at the Esplanade Hotel, his Excellency the Governor being present. Covers were laid for forty persons, and there was hardly a vacant chair. Punctually at the appointed hour, his Excellency arrived, accompanied by his staff, and the company repaired to the dining hall, H. E. the Governor being the guest of the Commandant of the Corps, Lieut.-Col. Bayley. "The Queen" was given at about 9-45, Lieut.-Col. Bayley rose and proposed the health of H. E. the Governor. Lord Reay, in his reply, expressed his pleasure at being able to be present upon such an occasion, and made several remarks, showing the interest he took in the Volunteers movement. The usual toasts of officers and non-commissioned officers were then proposed, the company afterwards making their way to the music saloon, where his Excellency remained about half-an-hour listening to one or two songs, and taking his departure about 10-30. Singing was kept up until about midnight, when the company separated all having spent a most enjoyable evening. The dinner was a great success, every thing being under the personal superintendance of Mr C. H. Poincilit, of the Esplanade Hotel.

The following is a list of the company.

ECHOES OF SCIENCE.

The origin of the diamond is still one of the mysteries of geology. When the South African fields were discovered there was much astonishment to find the gem in a series of minerals quite different from those in which it had been hitherto found in India and Brazil. Instead of lying beside tourmaline, anatase, and brookite, it was mingled with a breccia of magnesian rocks which had evidently been pushed up from below; and a great variety of minerals, such as diopside, mica, zircon, and corundum, were embedded along with it. Some have supposed that the diamond was originally formed where it is now picked up, and the presence of carburetted gas and carboniferous rocks is in favour of the idea; but, on the other hand, the broken condition of some of the stones, and other facts, make it far more probable that the diamond has been ejected from a deeper source. According to a paper by M. Daubree, the well-known French mineralogist, recently read before the Academy of Sciences the diamond issues from the infra-granitic regions of the earth's crust, where peridot is prevalent; for it arrives at the surface along with that mineral and certain serpentine masses which result from the transformation of the latter.

In New South Wales, for example, the diamond is found near basaltic eruptions which traverse the Devonian and carboniferous formations. Moreover, the diamond has been detected in several meteorites—for instance, one which fell on September 4th, 1886, at Novo Urie in Russia. This consisted of nickelled iron, peridot, and carbon, which contained a fine dust having the hardness of diamond, and burning in oxygen with the production of carbonic acid gas. The diamond dust was present in the proportion of 1 per cent. of the whole weight of the meteorite. Cubical crystals of graphite, believed to be formed from the diamond, have been formed in the meteoric iron of Arva in Hungary, and in meteorites from Youndegin in Western Australia and Crosby's Creek, United States. As it has long been known that the nether minerals of the earth's crust are similar to those found in meteorites, the occurrence of diamond in these bodies is in support of M. Daubree's theory. M. Daubree, in fact, has come to the conclusion that the interior of the globe is rich in mineral diamond. The volcanic vents which here and there have brought up a little of the inner store to the surface, are a proof of its extent and quality. But if the earth's core is partly composed of diamond, it lies too deep for working, and there is little chance of companies being floated to mine the Plutonian bed rock.

It has been supposed that the porcelain clays of China are quite similar to those of Europe; but a recent analysis of M. Georges Vogt shows that this is not the case. He experimented with "yeou-ko" clay, a fusible variety employed in making glaze for porcelain, and obtained from Koui-Ki. The results showed that yeou-ko consists of 52·9 parts of quartz, 31·3 parts of white mica (Muscovite), 13·4 parts of soda felspar, 2 parts of carbonate of lime, and 1 part of hydrated silica. The pegmatite clay of Limousin, which resembles it, consists of quartz 23·87 parts, felspar 72·83 parts, and different matters soluble in sulphuric acid 3·30 parts. Petun-tse, another china clay, also contains Muscovite, which, indeed, is very common in Chinese rocks. Petun-tse from Cheo-Ki contains as much as 49·6 per cent. of this mineral. As yeou-ko and petun-tse and hoa-che all contain white mica, and enter into the composition of the Chinese porcelain pastes, it follows that the latter sometimes contain 20 per cent. of white mica; a sufficient quantity to materially affect the properties of the porcelain.

One of the most interesting curiosities of the Yellowstone Park is the natural glass or obsidian, which there forms itself into a columnar cliff at one place, and a natural bridge at another. Specimens of this glass, which is black or grey in colour, have recently been analysed by M. Stanislaus Meunier, who finds it to consist of a double silicate of alumina and potash, which only differs from felspathic minerals by the great quantity of volatile matter it contains. This is chiefly vapour of water and chlorhydric acid, and is liberated when the glass is heated to redness. The glass balls or bubbles also found in the park contain these gases.

The railway from Lulea, in the gulf of Bothnia, to Elvegaard, in the fjord of Ofoten, Norway, which is now in course of construction, is the most northerly in the world. It traverses the mountains between Sweden and Norway, and the work is sometimes interrupted by the severity of the weather; but is expected to be finished during the approaching summer, so that autumn tourists will have a chance of striking out a new route this year.

In the Palais de Glace, which has just been opened in the Rue Pergolese, the skating rink is formed of real ice, on a circular basin of water, artificially cooled by pipes containing ammonia gas. Three powerful steam engines are employed to compress the gas to the point of liquefaction before it is let into the tubes. Its expansion, of course, produces the extreme cold, which freezes the water in which the tubes are immersed. The atmosphere of the arena is artificially warmed, and the whole lighted by electricity.

A curious rainbow effect is reported from Valparaiso by Mr. William Scouller, an old student of the Natural Philosophy Class in Glasgow University. On the 18th of September last Mr. Scouller stood on a height overlooking the sea at Valparaiso, while the sun was setting, and saw a group of three rainbows, overlapping one another. The first was the usual primary bow, the second a secondary bow, parallel to the primary, but higher in the sky, while the third was a special bow, starting from the roots of the primary and rising above the secondary, so as to intersect it at two points. This last was produced by the reflection of the sinking sun in the smooth mirror of the sea. After the sun set a single bow was seen, of one colour—pink—and Mr. Scouller believes that the source of light in this case was a cloud just over the sun, which was below the horizon. It is probable that rainbows formed by reflected light are commoner than is supposed, if people would but look for them.

The Royal Society proposes to commemorate the life and work of the late Dr. Joule by erecting a tablet or bust to his memory in London, and providing some means for the encouragement of research.

At a recent meeting of the Royal Society a "new photometer" was shown in which two wedges of neutral tinted glass are arranged to slide past each other, so as to weaken or quench the light whose intensity is to be measured. In this class of photometer the thickness of the absorbent glass interposed becomes a measure of the intensity. In Mr. Spitta's apparatus the wedges are moved by means of a screw. It is probably not so novel as he imagined, for he will find that the device was patented in England in the year 1882.

In connection with the question, discussed in The Globe some ten days ago, as to whether excess of ozone in the atmosphere gives rise to influenza, or symptoms of influenza, a gentleman has written to a scientific contemporary stating that about 45 years ago he visited Professor Schonbein, the famous chemist who discovered atmospheric ozone, and found that he had inhaled ozone to give himself the influenza, in order to study its effects. He appeared to be suffering from influenza at the time. In this connection it may be useful to mention that during the Paris Electrical Exhibition a member of the British Commission, and a well-known inventor, contracted a curious complaint, resembling a severe attack of influenza, with inflammation of the mucous system. He could not account for this malady, which clung to him for some time. But it was suggested to him that the ozone generated by the numerous electric arc lamps with which the Exhibition was brilliant every night may have been the cause. The atmosphere of the hall in the Palais de l' Industrie at night was often sensibly peculiar, and must have been highly ozonised by the hundreds of powerful electrical discharges in the different arc lamps running at once, not to speak of other electrical discharges in the building. The sanitary effects of ozone generated by naked arc lamps in closed areas is one which has not as yet been investigated.

The last paragraph suggests the British Museum reading room, and the new lighted archæological galleries. It cannot but strike an electrician that if the walls in the galleries were less dingy the effect of the new lamps would be far stronger. A considerable percentage of the light must be absorbed by the walls as they now are, and a fresh coat of a white or whitish paint would decidedly improve the general illumination without any further expense for electricity.

During the eleventh meeting of the National Electric Light Association, in Kansas City, from February 11th to 14th, a "vestibule train" will be run from New York to Kansas via Chicago, without changing. It is to be the finest "ever run out of New York," and comprises not only the latest Pullman sleeping cars, but a dining-car, an observation car, and a composite car with barber shops, bath-room, smoking-room, card-room, and library. It will be lighted throughout with fixed and portable electric lamps.

SAD BUT TRUE.

THE HISTORY OF MANKIND CONVINCES US

That disasters are in reality stepping stones for higher progress. To prevent disastrous diseases from poisoned blood, use

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT."

No one can have a simpler and more efficient remedy. By its use the poison is thrown off, and the blood restored to its healthy condition by natural means. I used my FRUIT SALT freely in my last attack of Fever, and I have every reason to say it saved my life.—J. C. ENO.

Instead of being lowering to the system, ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" is in the highest degree Invigorating. Its effect in relieving thirst, giving tone to the system, and aiding digestion is MOST STRIKING.

NO TRAVELLER SHOULD LEAVE HOME without a supply of ENO'S "FRUIT SALT," for by its use the most dangerous forms of fevers, blood poisons, &c., are prevented and cured. It is in truth a Family Medicine Chest in the simplest yet most potent form. It has a natural action on the organs of digestion, absorption, circulation, respiration, secretion and excretion, and removes all impurities, and hinders (by natural means) the unnatural and dangerous accumulation of fat. It keeps the body in healthy trim, by preserving and restoring health.

HEADACHE AND DISORDERED STOMACH.—"After suffering for years from severe headache and disordered stomach, and after trying almost everything without any benefit, I was recommended your 'FRUIT SALT,' and before I had finished one bottle I found it doing me a great deal of good, now I am restored to my usual health; and others I know that have tried it have not enjoyed such good health for years.—Yours most truly, ROBERT HUMPHREYS, Post Office, Barrasford."

THE ATLAS MOUNTAINS (MOROCCO), NORTH AFRICA.—Mr. Harold Crichton-Browne, in a letter from the Atlas Mountains, says:—"The Kaid of Demnet treated us so well that we desired, on leaving, to make him some acknowledgment, and presented him with . . . . a bottle of ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT,' with which he was much pleased."—The World, September 12, 1888.

SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHER SALINES.—"Dear Sir,—Having been in the habit of taking your 'FRUIT SALT' for many years, I think it only right to tell you that I consider it a most invaluable medicine, and far superior to all other saline mixtures. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, as I find it possesses three most desirable qualities, namely, it is pleasant to the taste, promptly efficacious, and leaves no unpleasant after-effects.—A DEVONSHIRE LADY.—Jan. 25, 1889."

CAUTION.—Legal Rights are protected in every civilized country. Examine each bottle and see that the Capsule is marked ENO'S "FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by a WORTHLESS IMITATION. Sold by all Chemists, &c. Prepared only at

DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE.

For TWENTY FIVE YEARS has maintained its world-wide reputation as the ONLY SAFE RELIABLE PHOSPHORIC REMEDY ever discovered for the Permanent Cure of Brain Wreckage, Paralysis, Sleeplessness, Harassing Dreams, Premature Decay of Vital Power, and all Functional and Diseased Conditions of the System, dependent upon the Deficiency of the Vital Forces.

IT CURES Dyspepsia, Nerve, and Heart Disease.
CURES Kidney and Liver Complaints.
CURES all Blood Disorders.
CURES Consumption and General Debility.
CHECKS all Wasting of the Vital Forces,
From whatever cause arising.

The EFFECT of this Standard PHOSPHORIC Remedy in Nervous Debility and its kindred Evils is immediate and permanent, all the Miserable Feelings and Distressing Symptoms disappearing with a rapidity that is Really Marvellous,

DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE

Actually creates New Nervous Fluid and Brain Matter by supplying the Blood with its Electric Life Element—PHOSPHORUS, the very Core and Centre of the Brain itself, restoring the fullest and most vigorous conditions of Robust Health of Body and Mind, and whilst pleasant to the taste, never fails to Purify and Enrich the Blood, and thoroughly invigorate the Brain, Nerves, and Muscles. Its energising effects are shewn from the first day of its administration by a Remarkable Increase of Nerve and Intellectual Power, with a Feeling of Courage, Strength, and Comfort, to which the Patient has long been unaccustomed. Digestion is invigorated. The Appetite increases wonderfully. The bowels become regular. Sleep becomes calm and refreshing. The face becomes fuller, the Lips red, the Eyes brighter, the Skin clear and healthy, and the Hair acquires Strength, showing the importance of its action on the Organs of Nutrition.

HEALTH, STRENGTH, AND ENERGY.

DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE

is the only Medicine of the kind or name awarded a Certificate of Merit, at the Calcutta Exhibition, 1883-4, where all Countries were Exhibitors and the only Trade Mark—"PHOSPHODYNE"—Registered and Protected under the Trade Marks Act.

BEWARE OF VILE IMITATIONS!—None is genuine unless every bottle bears the British Government Stamp with the words "DR. LALOR'S PHOSPHODYNE, London, England," engraved thereon.

THOUSANDS of unimpeachable TESTIMONIALS from all parts of the World, and from the highest Medical Authorities, prove conclusively the Verdict Universal that, in the World of scientific research, no other Phosphoric Preparation has received such exalted praise and distinguished recognition.

Directions for the guidance of Patients in the Self-Treatment of the above diseases are enclosed with each Bottle.

Sold in Bottles at 4s. 6d. and 11s. each by all Chemists throughout the World.

THE NEWBERY HOUSE MAGAZINE.

A Monthly Review and Family Magazine or Churchmen and Churchwomen.

ONE SHILLING MONTHLY. ILLUSTRATED.

"The Church subjects, all by accredited authors, are well treated and full of information."—Guardian

"The contents, generally speaking, are good, and upon the whole may be considered promising."—Athenæum.

"The first number of THE NEWBERY HOUSE MAGAZINE must be admitted to be a distinct success; it covers a wide field of subjects, and is interesting. The proportion is well held between theological, scientific, and chatty articles, and, while the magazine is on distinct Church lines, it is not too Churchy..... The second number maintains the standard with which it started."—Church Bells.

"We recommend our readers to procure it for themselves, wishing it every success."—Church Times.

"Even in these days of plentiful magazine literature, covers ground which is not occupied by any other periodical; in point of variety, interest, and ability, it is second to none, and, if we judged it by our individual taste, we should almost prefer it to any other. We strongly recommend all our readers to obtain a specimen number."—John Bull.

"This new candidate for popular favour is remarkable both for the variety of its contents and the ability of the writers."—School Guardian.

"So full is this number of articles of interest for the clergy and laity that it amply justifies the launch of a magazine that will speedily, if we mistake not, be read in thousands of homes."—Manchester Examiner.

"THE NEWBERY HOUSE MAGAZINE for September is just as varied, just as vigorous, and as valuable as the former number."—Literary Churchman.

"THE NEWBERY HOUSE MAGAZINE has recently supplied a need which has long existed."—The Ecclesiastical Gazette.

"The opening number is a good one, marked by broad liberal views and some high class contributions."—Daily Telegraph.

"Ecclesiastical questions treated from a moderately High Church point of view, predominate. . . . The general appearance of the Magazine—good paper, clear type, and occasional illustrations, help to give it a character of its own."—Academy.

"There is no Church magazine like it."—National Church.

CHASSAING'S WINE
Bi-Digestive
with Pepsine & Diastase
for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Vomiting, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Consumption, Gastralgia, Loss of Appetite, Constipation.

« This preparation of value is founded upon sound chemical and physiological principles. While pepsine is the natural solvent or digestive for nitrogenous aliments, it has little or no effect upon the feculent constituents which enter so largely into the composition of the food of man; and there is no doubt that some of the disorders of digestion arise from themal assimilation of the starchy elements. Now the proper digestive for these is diastase; and in the bi-digestive wine, of M. Chassaing, those two most important principles, pepsine and diastase, are combined in suitable proportions. » — See THE LANCET, July 27 th. 1872.
